

GRAND RAPIDS TRIBUNE.

DRUMB & SUTOR, Publishers.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, Saturday, March 30, 1901.

VOL. XXVIII, NO. 47.

An Opportunity
You should not miss.

If you intend to build give us an opportunity to quote you prices. We have an unexcelled stock of Lumber, Lath, Shingles, Doors, Windows, Paper, Lime, Brick and Hair and can make you attractive prices on same.

Kellogg Bros. Lbr. Co.

YARDS AT Grand Rapids, West Grand Rapids, Nekoosa.

Show us a Job,

And we will show how promptly and well it can be done. Everything in the line of

PLUMBING, HEATING AND GAS-FITTING

comes within our province. Got the skill and experience necessary to undertake and push to satisfactory completion the most difficult piece of work.

Our estimates will prove we are not high priced.

Gitchell, Lubeck Co.

"The Pen
is Mightier than the Sword."

We believe it and so does Sampson. What we write is for your interest. Why? your money back of course. Buy from us a

Quick Meal
Gasoline Stove,

a Steel Range, Domestic Sewing Machine, White

Mountain Ice Cream Freezer, Challenge Refrigerator,

Rome Anti-rust Wash Boiler, Rochester Stamped

Ware, Waterville Table or Pocket Cutlery, a Stoughton Wagon or a Thompson Carriage and you have all your money calls for.

No Better can be found in any Market.

Centralia Hardware
Company.

AN IMPORTANT DEAL.

T. E. Nash sells his Water Power Interest to Consolidated People.

On Saturday occurred an important deal involving as is generally understood about $35,000, it being the sale to Messrs. Johnson and Witter the water power belonging to T. E. Nash.
The sale takes in all of Mr. Nash's reparian rights along the Wisconsin river in this city and is an important matter aside from the amount of money involved.

The sale of this property to Messrs.
Johnson and Witter gives these gentlemen complete control of the water power privileges in this city and as they have expressed their intention to improve the property there is now no obstacle in the way of their doing so.
Just when operations will commence on the dam that will be put in cannot be stated at this writing but the indications are that it will be in the near future. An engineer has been on the ground during the past week looking over the situation and his work will probably have to be finished before anything definite can be done.

Among other things the company will establish a power house for the purpose of generating electricity for the use of the public in operating motors for machinery of different kinds, fans, pumps etc. This will open up a field for small factories and the like that has never before existed here. There are many establishments that could use from one-fourth to two horsepower to advantage that are now getting along without power, and these places would then be supplied with all power necessary at a very low cost.

Wisconsin Dairy Exhibit.

It is of the greatest importance to the dairy interests of the state that a highly creditable exhibit of our butter and cheese be made at the Pan-American exposition to be held at Buffalo, N. Y., from May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901.
This exhibit will be made under the State of Board of Managers, therefore I earnestly request all creamery and cheese-factory proprietors who are well equipped for making a fine class of goods, to make a special offer to exhibit and to communicate with me at once. I will gladly furnish all information relative to the matter.

My address until April 14, 1901, will be Sheboygan Falls, Wis. After that date, in care of F. A. Converse, 735 Ellicott Square, Buffalo, N. Y.

H. K. LOOMIS,
Supt. Wisconsin Dairy Dept., Pan-American Exposition.

Awards Made.

The commissioners of appraisal appointed by Judge Webb to value the lands for the northwestern railway company made their report on Monday.
The pieces of property passed on were those to be used by the main line of the road through the town of Grand Rapids. Following is the award for the value of strips of land taken and damage rendered to balance of premises.

Stella M. Paulus.....$1750.00
August Kristowski.....170.00
Wm. B. Naylor.....300.00
John Golla.....900.00
Estate of Esther J. Lyon.....3402.50
Sarah E. Vaughn.....520.00
J. D. Witter.....1500.00
Mathias Gatzhowski.....450.00
Edward Huban.....300.00
Julian Urmanski.....150.00
August Glebbe.....175.00

High School Notes.

Owing to a slight misunderstanding of the public program of the Forum which was to take place tonight at the M. E. church was not rendered. Instead the Forum elected officers for the next six weeks and will continue to hold its meetings until about the last of April.

Athletic work has been begun. The boys intend to do some good work this spring and they certainly have good material with which to do it.

Otoe Wipperman has given up his studies and is teaching school near town. He intends to enter Annapolis academy next fall.

Miss Beile Quin was absent from school last week on account of sickness.
She returned Monday of this week.

The seniors held their regular semi-monthly class meeting last Wednesday.
Also the sophomores met.

School closes today for the spring vacation and opens again April 8.

Look Out for This Shark.

George T. Eagle is reported to be a swindler in school supplies. In northern Wisconsin he has taken orders ostensibly for L. A. Murray of Kilbourn, Wis., had the orders cashed at banks and failed to furnish the goods promised. He is also reported to have forged such orders in the name of L.
A. Murray, and school boards are warned to look out for him should he appear in this county.—Marshfield News.

A Delightful Yellowstone Park Trip.

A party of select Wisconsin people will make a trip to Yellowstone park in July or August, in charge of Mr.
C. E. Culver, professor of geology, Stevens Point Normal school, traveling in a special sleeping and buffet car. Those desiring to join, can obtain complete information as to rates, time of leaving, etc., from J. M. Turner,
Special Excursion Agent, Wisconsin Central Ry., Burlington, Wis.

—Dr. J. J. Looze Grand Rapids, office over Wood County Drug store, telephone No. 62. Residence telephone No. 246.

Rewarding True Merit.

It has often been said that when a young man possesses true merit in any way it will not only shine on the surface but that eventually it will receive its reward. This was aptly illustrated a few days ago in this city. It seems that a certain farmer who lives a few miles from the city had been doing his trading at a store within the confines of this batiwak and that during the time he was waiting about the store he had been attracted by the pleasing appearance and obliging manner in which the young gentleman who drove the delivery wagon for the firm had been in the habit of performing his duties. Better acquaintance with the young man had not bred contempt as is often the case but had rather made the old man view the young fellow with even more favor.
Now the old man had a daughter who had reached the age when the old man thought she had better be looking out for a partner for her sorrows and joys through life, and by gradual degrees it dawned upon the old gentleman that this young deliveryman would make just about the kind of a son-in-law he would like to have in the family. He was a man of deeds as well as of thoughts so one day last week when in town he took the young man off to one side and unfolded his plan, and he not only offered to him his daughter, but promised on the day they were married to present him with a cow, a heifer and $100 in cash. Now a cow and a heifer and $100 in cash, and a good healthy, strong-armed country girl are not to be sneezed at and are enough to tempt almost any young man, but it seems that the deliveryman had a previous engagement or else there were other circumstances that compelled him to turn down the old man's proposal, much to the latter's sorrow. "Tis said that fortune knocks at every man's door once in his lifetime, and maybe in after years this young man may look back and realize that he missed the opportunity of his life.

Delinquent Taxes.

The several town, city and village treasurers finished their returns to the county treasurer on Saturday. Following is the amount returned delinquent:

Grand Rapids, city.....$247.83
Grand Rapids, town.....55.74
Lincoln.....41.67
Marshfield, city.....804.93
Marshfield, town.....29.43
Milladore.....109.61
Nekoosa village.....5.21
Port Edwards.....484.79
Pittsville.....185.25
Remington.....70.44
Richfield.....131.95
Rudolph.....49.19
Rock.....206.83
Sherry.....297.19
Sigel.....69.60
Saratoga.....271.64
Seneca.....663.88
Vesper.....241.45
Wood.....849.56
Total.....$7,975.08

The town and village of Auburndale returned no taxes delinquent. Since the above returns considerable of the tax has been paid in to the county treasurer by individuals.

Water-Lilies Easily Grown.

All that is needed to grow water-lilies is a tub, sunlight from six to eight hours a day, some rich garden soil, and a little water. The easiest way to grow them is from seed, and the prettiest varieties are the African or Zanzibar; they are purple, blue and red. To sow them take a common bowl, and half fill with finely sifted soil packed down level and hard. On the surface scatter the seed evenly and cover with not over a quarter of an inch of fine sand; then very gently fill the bowl with water so as not to disturb nor wash away the sand. Place where the water will be kept at a temperature of about eighty degrees. In two weeks they will be ready for trans-planting.—April Ladies' Home Journal.

Black Cat Competition.

The drawing competition at Spafford
Cole & Co.'s store came to a close on Monday and there were something over one hundred drawings submitted.

The first prize for the most artistic production was given to Miss Delta Stoddard and consisted of $1 in cash.

The second prize was for the most comic drawing and was won by Miss Lela Steen, one pair of black cat stockings.

The third prize was for the best picture to be used as an advertisement and was won by Floyd Jenkins, one pair of black cat stockings.

The drawings will be bound and put on exhibition at the store in the near future.

Unclaimed Letters.

Following is the list of unclaimed letters in the east side postoffice, for the week ending March 27, 1901.

Johnson, Erie School & Office Supply Co.
Gard, Charlie Geeske, Miss Wharke
Soley, Miss Ella Helinuke, Mrs. Albert
Paterson, Mrs. R.

Persons calling for the above please say "advertised."

A. L. FOSTAINE, Postmaster.

More Candidates.

Five new candidates for office have appeared during the past week, they being N. H. Robinson for assessor, Orrin Gray for justice of peace, Charles Lubeck for alderman in the fourth ward, Geo. T. Rowland for supervisor in the fourth ward and Fred Bossert for alderman in the fifth ward.

HOME FROM THE WAR.

Grand Rapids Boy Returns after Two Years of Service.

Joseph Peyrusse, who enlisted in the army in August, 1899, and has since been stationed in the Philippines, returned home on Sunday, his regiment having been returned to this country and mustered out of the service.

Joseph enlisted in August, 1899, and was a private in Company G, 30th U. S. Volunteers, having been sent to Manila immediately after enlisting. He was only seventeen years of age at the time of his enlistment and he states that the time he has spent in the volunteer army has satisfied his desire for soldiering.

During most of the time Mr. Pey-russe was stationed about 30 miles north of Manila near Vigan. He was in fifteen engagements and in one was wounded twice, being shot through the right shoulder and left hip with musket balls. This occurred on Oct. 17, 1899, or only shortly after he arrived on the island.

It is his opinion that the natives are not much nearer whipped than they were two years ago and that twenty years hence they will still be scrapping and that if they are eventually subdued it will require a large standing army to keep them in subjection.

He also states that the "water cure," the account of which so greatly shocked some of our humanitarians along about election time, was not fiction by any means, but that it was practiced right along in order to make captured natives tell what they know concerning the movements of the enemy. In this the victim has a piece of wood inserted in his mouth to keep his jaws distended and while he is held on the ground water is poured into his face in liberal quantities.
Another common way is to tie a rope about the prisoner's neck and by passing the rope over a convenient branch haul him up until the tension becomes unbearable and he signifies a desire to "cough up" any information he may have. These punishments were common and Joseph says he has seen both of them practiced many a time.

George Whitman, another Grand Rapids volunteer, is in the 34th regiment and is still on the island.

Looking for Trouble.

John Smith of Waterloo was brought before the justice of the peace on Tuesday and paid a fine of $5 for being drunk and disorderly the day before. John and two comrades came down on the noon train the day before reaching this city the three had some trouble on the train which resulted in a scrap and John was badly scratched up and his clothes were covered with blood. When he got off the train he entered the ticket office at the St.
Paul depot and becoming noisy was ejected. This seemed to incense him and when he attempted to enter again and found the door locked he kicked in a panel and otherwise injured the door. He was subsequently captured by officer Gibson and after a night in the locking he had sobered up and saw things in their proper light. He paid for the damaged door and continued on his way toward home.

To Erect New Mill.

The Grand Rapids Milling company will in the near future commence the erection of a new mill building to take the place of the old structure now being used. The new establishment will be modern in all its equipments and have a capacity of about 200 barrels daily.

The new mill building will be situated near the electric light power house on lots 4 and 5, block 4, and when completed the plant will be operated by electricity. The new company has a capital stock of $20,000 and the officers are J. D. Witter, president, John
P. Horton, secretary and treasurer.
The management of affairs will be under Mr. Horton as heretofore.

Old Settlers' Meeting.

The following program has been prepared for the old settlers' meeting, which will be held in this city on Thursday evening, April 11, at the opera house:

Music.....Monarch Orchestra
President's Address.....H. E. McFarland
Address.....Theo. W. Brazeau
Instrumental Selection.....Mrs. L. P. Witter
Tone.....Mrs. G. R. Gardner
Tone.....M. W. Cochran
Song.....Miss Laura Reeves
Toast.....Mr. J. D. Witter
Paper-Subject: First Chapter of the Mys- teries of the City of Greater Grand Rap- ids.....Joseph P. Estey
Instrumental Selection.....Mrs. L. P. Witter
Toast.....Mrs. D. Denis
Music.....Monarch Orchestra

THE JEWELLED TALISMAN

OR

PURITAN AND CAVALIER

BY

MRS. CAROLINE ORNE

CHAPTER XV.—(Continued.)

He walked so rapidly that she had some difficulty in keeping up with him, the more as he frequently turned from one street into another. They had gone a much greater distance than she imagined it would be, when he stopped abruptly in front of a somewhat spacious building. It did not in the least resemble what she had pictured to herself as the dwelling of a Puritan lady, yet, though she had some misgivings, she remained silent.

"This is the house," said her conductor; and ascending the steps, he rapped at the door.

It was speedily opened by a man whose dress acceded as little with the style of that worn by the Puritans, as the gaudily furnished apartment seen through an open door, were in unison with their daily habits.

"It is you, Corkle?" said the man. "I didn't expect."

Here his words were cut short by a significant look from him to whom they were addressed.

"I called," said Corkle, "to inquire if the widow Elliston is at home. Go and tell some one to let her know that somebody is here who wishes to see her very particularly."

The man vanished, and Corkle turned to Aseneth.

"Come in and rest yourself," said he, "till the lady is ready to see you."

He entered an adjoining apartment, and she neither saw him nor any other person, though she could hear voices for a number of minutes. He then made his appearance.

"I've seen the lady's waiting maid," said he, "and her mistress sends word that she shall not leave her room under an hour from now, and requests you to send her the letter you are the bearer of."

"Can I see the lady's hand maid?" she asked.

"Certainly," and opening a door through which was seen a staircase, he called, "Cleely—Cleely!"

A girl came down stairs and stood in the doorway.

"Hand the billet to her, and she will give it to her mistress."

The Jewess rose, advanced a few steps, and then stopped irresolute. Everything appeared so different from what she had supposed that her mind misgave her.

"Perhaps," said Corkle, "you would prefer to wait an hour or two, till the lady leaves her room; although, added he, "she is so unwell I shouldn't wonder if she didn't leave it for the day."

"I don't think she will be able to," said Cleely. "I will give her the letter, which, I suppose, will be the same as if you gave it to her yourself."

"Take it," said Aseneth, handing it to her, "and may you find a serpent's sting in it, if you have possessed yourself of it wrongfully."

It was already late in the morning, and with this thought, interwoven with a vague apprehension of impending evil, she left the house, with the arduous task before her of finding her way back, through what appeared to her the perfect maze of streets and dark alleys, where, guided by Corkle, she had recently passed.

Now and then she looked wistfully round on every side for such landmarks as she had the foresight to set down in her mind while following her perfidious conductor, but she could see nothing which looked familiar. She avoided inquiring the way, for she shrank from again encountering scoffs and jeers. Now, however, fearing that instead of approaching, she was wandering further from home, she concluded to seek the desired information of the first person whose appearance pleased her.

Not long after she came to this conclusion she saw a young man coming towards her, whose air and dress showed that his rank was that of a gentleman. She felt certain that he was one of those whose goodness of heart and true nobility made him above treating with contumely even one of her despised race.

"Can you," said she, "tell me the way to the shop of Jeduthan, the Jew?"

"You are so great a distance from it," he replied, "that it will be difficult to direct you."

Her heart sank within her when he told her this, for she was faint and weary.

"What can I do?" said she.

"You won't be afraid to trust me for a guide?"

She looked at him as if she doubted whether she heard him aright.

"Will you permit me to guide you?" said he, noticing her look of bewilderment.

"You surely cannot mean to show me the way yourself?"

"Why not?"

"It would be stooping too low."

"Not a whit. I had it in my mind, before I met you, to call at the Jew's shop you mentioned, and, perhaps, some of those belonging to others who live near by, between this and night. I may as well go now as later in the day. Keep near by, or you may lose sight of me."

At last, when they entered the street where she lived, though lined on either side with buildings that were old and unsightly, she could scarcely suppress a cry of joy. Her conductor almost wondered at the delight depicted in her countenance on reaching a place where all around were air of so much wretchedness and gloom. When they reached the door of the shop, Aseneth stood without till her conductor had entered.

"I was afraid that some evil had befallen you," said the Jew, as, on raising his eyes, he saw her standing near the threshold.

"That there has not, thanks are due to this stranger," she replied. And passing through the shop, she opened a door and entered an adjoining apartment.

"I have called," said the young man, as soon as she had closed the door behind her, "to request the favor of examining a gem which I have been told is in your possession."

"I am not a dealer in gems, as you will readily perceive if you look round you," said the Jew, evasively, and, in spite of himself, manifesting some alarm.

"Yet you purchased an opal the other evening."

The Jew remained silent.

"You needn't be afraid that I shall make use of my knowledge of this transaction to injure you. I merely wish to satisfy myself that it is the same which I once was the owner of."

"You, then, are the one who found it, when it was lost by Abi, my granddaughter?"

"The one I refer to I first saw at Lingard's, the goldsmith. I subsequently purchased it of him at a high price. All I wish to ascertain is, if the opal sent here for sale by Gilbert Falkland be the same, or only one that resembles it. I wish you to understand, however, that in either case, it is not my intention to deprive you of it. If it should prove to be that I find of Lingard, I have no right to it, while if I find it to be the same, I would sooner grind it beneath my feet than retain what would ever be hateful to my sight."

"I would willingly grant your request were it in my power; but only a few minutes before you came, it was discovered that the setting had sustained some injury, and it was sent to one of our people to be repaired. When it is returned, you can see it."

"When will that be?"

"Some time during the day. At what hour, I am unable to tell."

"Then I will defer coming till evening. He turned to go, when the Jew again accosted him.

"Pardon me," said he, "but I would fain know the name of one who disdained not, if I rightly understood the meaning of her words, to screen her, my faithful servant, from the rudeness of those who seem to forget that our despised people are within the pale of humanity."

"My name is Clarence Harleigh."

"One that I sha'n't forget. Favors sink deep into the hearts of those who are little used to them."

"Showing your servant the way thither, as I wished to come myself, scarcely deserves the name of a favor," replied Harleigh, as he turned to leave.

"The day were away, Alice began to think it was somewhat singular that she heard nothing from Mrs. Elliston. Aseneth, meanwhile, was ill at ease. When the joy of finding herself safe at home had time to subside, the misgivings she had felt as to whether the note she had been entrusted with had fallen into the right hands, revived with redoubled force. The hours slipped away, till night set in. Alice, by this time, began to be so seriously uneasy that when Aseneth entered, bearing their evening meal, Abi inquired if she gave the billet into Mrs. Elliston's own hand.

"I did not," she replied; and she then gave a true account of all that happened to her, and expressed her fears that she had been deceived by the man who with much apparent kindness offered to conduct her to the place where she desired to go.

"There can be no doubt that he deceived you," said Alice, "as is shown by the description you give of the house, and the people you saw there."

Her anxiety was now excited on a different account. The contents of the note addressed to Mrs. Elliston showed where she had found refuge, and if, as she feared, it had fallen into the hands of one of the men who had been employed by Falkland, it would be likely to bring trouble and danger to those who had so kindly befriended her, as well as to herself.

CHAPTER XVI.

After supper, the Jew returned to the shop, where his boy, Mizar, had remained during his absence. When he recalled his mind that Clarence Harleigh had promised to call in the course of the evening to look at the opal, he remembered that it had not yet been returned. He, therefore, sent Mizar to procure it.

It was 8 o'clock when the boy returned with it, yet Harleigh had not made his appearance. The Jew was impatient at his delay, for he had concluded in his own mind that he would make a confidant of him relative to what had befallen Alice the preceding evening, and that there was reason to fear a note that she had sent early in the morning to her friends had fallen into unfriendly hands and would prove the means of betraying her to Falkland her place of refuge.

The minutes, one after the other, crept slowly away, without bringing him the Jew most desired to see. Another half hour had passed, and it was 9 o'clock, the time he was accustomed to pass an hour with Abi, who ventured to play the harp and sing to him some of those stirring and sublime songs recorded in the Old Testament. Now, after halting and barring the door, he remained a few minutes, hoping that Harleigh might yet come.

"Mizar," said the Jew, "remain here half an hour longer. If any one knock at the door, inquire who is there. The answer should be Clarence Harleigh, admit him, and then call me."

"And if it shouldn't be the gentleman that name?"

"Let the door remain fastened, and call me."

Only a few minutes after he was gone, some one knocked at the door. Mizar rose and went towards it to inquire who was there. Before he had time to do so, the knock was repeated louder than at first, and was immediately succeeded by a violent struggle. Soon came a wild and piercing cry. Then there was a sound of voices, low though earnest, and at the same time a dull noise, such as might be made by dragging a heavy weight. The boy stood almost stupefied with terror, till the sounds were heard no more.

Nothing of all this had reached the second apartment, where the Jew and Alice sat listening to Abi, who was playing on the harp a few low, sweet strains. When, therefore, the massive door was suddenly swung back, and Mizar burst into the room, pale and trembling, their first thought was that Falkland had discovered the retreat of Alice, and expected that the ruthless in his employ were pressing closely on the boy's footsteps.

"O, my master," exclaimed Mizar, "come quickly and see what has happened."

"They haven't come for her, then?" said Abi, pointing to Alice.

"No, no," replied Mizar; "but I afraid that the gentleman is murdered."

"What gentleman?" inquired Abi. But Mizar did not hear her question, for as she spoke, he closed the door, and followed his master to the shop.

They now listened at the door, and finding that all without was silent, the Jew cautiously opened it. A thick, heavy mist was falling, and the eye could not penetrate the gloom.

"Bring a light, Mizar," said the Jew, "that we may see if any one dead or wounded is lying near."

Seeing that the boy hesitated, Aseneth took up a lamp and stepping out at the door, held it in such a manner as to render visible whatever object might chance to be near. The insatiable mist had rendered the ground soft and yielding, and footprints of different sizes, grouped together in a confused, irregular manner, were the only vestige of what might have been a mortal struggle.

As she was about to enter, she thought she heard voices at no great distance. Listening, she found that they were rapidly drawing nearer. In her haste to enter, her feet slipped, and she fell across the threshold. By the time she had risen those she had heard, coming were close at hand. She had entered and succeeded in closing the door, when it was forcibly thrust open and three men rushed into the room. One of them Aseneth at once recognized as her treacherous guide.

"Ah, my delicate illy-face, you have found your way home!" said he, addressing her. "The young Puritan, I suspect, hasn't been here yet to let the bird out of the cage. If not, we will save him the trouble."

"It," said the Jew, "as I judge by your words, you are who conducted my servant to a different place from where she wished to go, I advise you to be content with the mischief you have done, and not to seek further to annoy her or others."

"When your advice is wanted I will seek for it," replied Corkle. "Don't you say so, Skellion?"

"Ay, ay," was the answer, "and if the old extorter wouldn't have his crazy old house pulled down about his ears, he had better lose no time in showing us where he has hid the little Puritan of the russet cloak. Be quick, and take your choice," said he, turning to the Jew.

"I shall not aid you in compassing your iniquitous purpose."

The next moment an exclamation of joy burst from the lips of Aseneth, for close behind a stranger she beheld Clarence Harleigh.

"May the God of our fathers be praised!" said he, "but I would fain know the name of one who disdained not, if I rightly understood the meaning of her words, to screen her, my faithful servant, from the rudeness of those who seem to forget that our despised people are within the pale of humanity."

"One that I sha'n't forget. Favors sink deep into the hearts of those who are little used to them."

"Showing your servant the way thither, as I wished to come myself, scarcely deserves the name of a favor," replied Harleigh, as he turned to leave.

"The day were away, Alice began to think it was somewhat singular that she heard nothing from Mrs. Elliston. Aseneth, meanwhile, was ill at ease. When the joy of finding herself safe at home had time to subside, the misgivings she had been deceived by the man who with much apparent kindness offered to conduct her to the place where she desired to go.

"There can be no doubt that he deceived you," said Alice, "as is shown by the description you give of the house, and the people you saw there."

Her anxiety was now excited on a different account. The contents of the note addressed to Mrs. Elliston showed where she had found refuge, and if, as she feared, it had fallen into the hands of one of the men who had been employed by Falkland, it would be likely to bring trouble and danger to those who had so kindly befriended her, as well as to herself.

"Perhaps," said Corkle, "you would prefer to wait an hour or two, till the lady leaves her room; although, added he, "she is so unwell I shouldn't wonder if she didn't leave it for the day."

"I don't think she will be able to," said Cleely. "I will give her the letter, which, I suppose, will be the same as if you gave it to her yourself."

"Take it," said Aseneth, handing it to her, "and may you find a serpent's sting in it, if you have possessed yourself of it wrongfully."

It was already late in the morning, and with this thought, interwoven with a vague apprehension of impending evil, she left the house, with the arduous task before her of finding her way back, through what appeared to her the perfect maze of streets and dark alleys, where, guided by Corkle, she had recently passed.

Now and then she looked wistfully round on every side for such landmarks as she had the foresight to set down in her mind while following her perfidious conductor, but she could see nothing which looked familiar. She avoided inquiring the way, for she shrank from again encountering scoffs and jeers. Now, however, fearing that instead of approaching, she was wandering further from home, she concluded to seek the desired information of the first person whose appearance pleased her.

Not long after she came to this conclusion she saw a young man coming towards her, whose air and dress showed that his rank was that of a gentleman. She felt certain that he was one of those whose goodness of heart and true nobility made him above treating with contumely even one of her despised race.

"Can you," said she, "tell me the way to the shop of Jeduthan, the Jew?"

"You are so great a distance from it," he replied, "that it will be difficult to direct you."

Her heart sank within her when he told her this, for she was faint and weary.

"What can I do?" said she.

"You won't be afraid to trust me for a guide?"

She looked at him as if she doubted whether she heard him aright.

"Will you permit me to guide you?" said he, noticing her look of bewilderment.

"You surely cannot mean to show me the way yourself?"

"Why not?"

"It would be stooping too low."

"Not a whit. I had it in my mind, before I met you, to call at the Jew's shop you mentioned, and, perhaps, some of those belonging to others who live near by, between this and night. I may as well go now as later in the day. Keep near by, or you may lose sight of me."

At last, when they entered the street where she lived, though lined on either side with buildings that were old and unsightly, she could scarcely suppress a cry of joy. Her conductor almost wondered at the delight depicted in her countenance on reaching a place where all around were air of so much wretchedness and gloom. When they reached the door of the shop, Aseneth stood without till her conductor had entered.

"I was afraid that some evil had befallen you," said the Jew, as, on raising his eyes, he saw her standing near the threshold.

"That there has not, thanks are due to this stranger," she replied. And passing through the shop, she opened a door and entered an adjoining apartment.

"I have called," said the young man

Grand Rapids Tribune

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Cora Pratt is visiting friends at Pittsville.

Arthur Sickles took in the sights at Wausau on Sunday.

Miss Nan White of Pittsville visited friends here on Monday.

Rev. L. Kroll spent Thursday at Oneida visiting with friends.

Frank Boles of Nekoosa was in the city on business on Saturday.

A. F. Mercer of Marshfield transacted business here on Tuesday.

Wm. Dowling of Dexterville was in the city on business on Thursday.

E. S. Bailey of Vesper was in the city for a short time on Saturday.

Attorney E. C. Pors of Marshfield transacted business here Thursday.

Edward Lynch spent the fore part of the week at Montello on business.

Otto Roenius and G. F. Krieger returned from Chicago on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Harmon returned on Sunday from their trip to Chicago.

Miss May Emmons entertained a few friends at her home on Wednesday.

E. M. Copps of Stevens Point looked after his interests in the city on Monday.

Conductor John Anderson of Marshfield spent Sunday with friends in this city.

Miss Anna Heidler of Marshfield is the guest of Miss Anna Oberbeck this week.

District attorney H. C. Wipperman transacted business in Milwaukee on Monday.

Sam Grover of Wausau was in the city on Tuesday and Wednesday on business.

Alex Muir was in Marshfield on business on Friday and Saturday of last week.

J. L. Morse of Lancaster was the guest of his son Robert in the city this week.

Miss Hazel Taylor left for Independence on Saturday to visit relatives for a time.

W. W. Mead has been at Nekoosa the past week doing some work on the paper mill.

Judge John A. Gaynor transacted business in Marshfield the latter part of last week.

A. Abrams, one of Nekoosa's solid farmers, transacted business here on Wednesday.

J. W. Cochran was in Marshfield on Thursday and Friday of last week on legal business.

N. H. Robinson will be an independent candidate for assessor at the spring election.

Seth Spaford is home from Wausau, having finished his course in the business college.

George Brown and F. S. Woodworth of Pittsville were in the city on business on Monday.

Lee Love came down from Merrill on Monday to visit friends and relatives in this city.

Bishop Weller addressed a large congregation at the Episcopal church on Friday evening.

Mrs. Esch of Sparta was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fournier several days this week.

Peter McCauley was in Oshkosh during the past week in attendance at the bedside of his sister.

Floyd Moore and Will Granger attended the concert and dance at Nekoosa Wednesday night.

Miss Laura Schmitt arrived in the city this week and will open her millinery store in the near future.

Mrs. R. M. Beeston left on Wednesday for Kankakee where she was called by the illness of a sister.

Hubert Colcord who has been on the road with a show arrived home Thursday for a short visit with his father.

Elmer Moberg returned on Thursday night from Tomahawk where he has been in the woods the past winter.

Mrs. L. H. Brooks of Tomahawk, who had been visiting friends in this city, returned to her home on Wednesday.

Geo. Fisher of the east side departed on Thursday night of Milwaukee where he intends to join the regular army.

Carl Bandelin, who is playing with Dan's 3rd Regiment band at Marquette, is home for a week's visit with his mother.

Miss Viola Garrison returned on Saturday from Milwaukee on account of sickness. She was attending Dvorak's college.

Dr. and Mrs. S. A. McGregor of Nekoosa were guests of Dr. D. Waters on Thursday, returning to their home that evening.

Mrs. M. J. Kinney, of Sioux City, Iowa, has been visiting friends in the city during the past week. She left for her home yesterday.

Omar Stont expects to leave for his old home in West Virginia in the near future, where he has accepted a more lucrative position.

Harry Thomas and Lou Jaques of Sherry were in the city on Friday on business and while here favored the Tribune office with a pleasant call.

Mrs. E. E. Winch and Mrs. J. R. Reilly of Marshfield and Mrs. C. A. Coon of Madison were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Renne for part of the week.

J. W. Brown of Dexterville has accepted a position with Oberbeck Bros. Mfg. Co. to take charge of their lumber yard. He expects to move his family here next week.

Eli Taylor of Nekoosa was in town a short time on Thursday on his way home from the woods where he has been logging the past winter. Eli says this was his 42nd year in the woods.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Geo. H. Smith returned on Wednesday from Milwaukee and left on Thursday for State Line. He was accompanied to the latter place by his daughter Kitty, who will visit there for a short time.

Jacob Bord, Vesper's enterprising contractor and builder transacted business here today (Friday). He reports business good and says he has the contracts to build some fine residences this summer.

Frank Billmeyer and Fred Brunkey returned Wednesday from Dandy where they have been in the woods for the Grand Rapids Lumber Co. Frank was running camp and Fred was cooking for him.

C. E. Boles, who has been teaching at Alma Center, returned home last week, the school having been closed at that place on account of a case of smallpox. It is probable that the school will open again in another week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Nash left the city Wednesday evening for a several weeks' stay. Mr. Nash, in company with Col. Vilas and Mr. Fay of Madison, will visit at Hot Springs, Ark., and Mrs. Nash and son, Leo, went to Washington, D. C., where she will visit the family of J. L. Nash. Mrs. Nash will be joined at Washington by Miss Edith, who is attending school at Northampton, Mass., and they will remain together until after the Easter holidays.

Society and Club Notices.

The Women's Club will hold their annual business meeting Monday evening at the residence of Mrs. E. T. Harmon.

The Travel Class will meet next Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. J. D. Witter.

The Catholic Ladies' Aid society will meet on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. J. McCarthy.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church, east side, will entertain all the societies of the church at the church parlors next Wednesday afternoon. The audience was not very large, however.

—Agents wanted in every community to sell books on good commission. Address James Vaughn, Gen'l Agent, Marshfield, Wis.

Minneapolis Journal: The wise on idea of the home for Indigent Lawyers is not taking well. A home for indigent clients after the lawyers are through with them would be more to the point.

Walter Smith was at Marshfield Tuesday and while there closed a deal with John Hoffmaw to again supply him with sand for the coming season. During last season Mr. Smith shipped 116 carloads.

Emery Provost, whose home is at Rudolph, was hurt in a railroad wreck at St. Paul on Tuesday, two engines running together. Mr. Provost was hurt about the head and scalped by escaping steam.

At the school meeting on Monday night the only changes made were to elect Dr. F. Poinainville to succeed R. A. Hayen in the seventh ward, and Guy Nash to succeed J. W. Natwick in the eighth ward.

On Monday occurs the last meeting of the Woman's club for the year, and the members report a most enjoyable and profitable year's work. At Monday's meeting officers will be elected for the ensuing season.

Young children with weak constitutions can attain an unusual degree of bodily and mental vigor by taking Rocky Mountain Tea this month made by the Madison Medicine Co. 35c. JOHNSON & HILL, Co.

Henry Mundinger got the thumb and first finger of his right hand caught in the calendar rolls at the Birn mill on Tuesday, with the result that they were smashed. Dr. Poinainville fixed him up.

The Jackson Milling company is engaged in closing up its business in this city preparatory to giving charge to the Grand Rapids Milling company, who will conduct a milling business at the same old stand.

Mrs. A. M. Muir entertained a few friends at tea on Wednesday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Renne; Mrs. M. J. Kinney, Mrs. C. A. Coon, Mrs. E. E. Winch, Mrs. J. R. Reilly and Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cameron.

Miss Rose McCamley was taken to Oshkosh last week to undergo an operation, having been ill for some time. Dr. Harvie went down on Tuesday to assist and returned on Thursday, reporting that the operation was a success.

My heart and hand another claimed, His plea had come too late. It's ever thus with people without pluck and vim.

Take Rocky Mountain Tea don't get left again. JOHNSON & HILL, Co.

Geo. Cerwinka of this city and Miss Daisy Ostrander of Appleton were married on Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents, the Rev. Mr. Robinson officiating. Bert Bever acted as best man. The young couple will make their home in this city.

—The Lawrence University Mandarin club will give a concert at the M. E. church Saturday evening, April 6th admission 35 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Richard Beuga, who resides near Rudolph, was arrested by Sheriff McLaughlin on Tuesday charged with having deserted his wife last August. His case will come up before Court Commissioner Brazeau on April 3d.

The following persons were nominated at the caucus in the town of Arpin Tuesday evening: Supervisor, J. Z. Arpin; chairman Robert Swenberg; J. F. Passer; clerk J. M. Okeneski; treasurer, John Pospisiel; assessor, R. E. Swan; constable, Frank Pipe.

—For fine dental work, go to Dr. D. A. Teifer, office over Wood County National Bank, Grand Rapids. Will also be at Davis' Confectionery and Fruit store.

Results: Immediate and lasting. Before and after trying other remedies use Rocky Mountain Tea this month. 'Twill keep you well all summer. A great spring blessing.

JOHNSON & HILL, Co.

Some of our people thought the city authorities had been afflicted with an attack of cleanliness on Tuesday, but later it was discovered that they were not to blame at all. The consternation was caused by several of the street crossings being nicely cleaned off.

The wet weather of the past week has kept our streets in a very disagreeable condition and people who live on the west side have been congratulating themselves to think that Cranberry street is paved and not in the condition it has been in former years.

Aldermen Otto and Anthoyer were out on the Marshfield road Tuesday to see what could be done toward draining the large accumulation of water that lies near the track and which has bothered every spring. It was decided to put in a culvert and ditch to drain the tract.

Mr. House, representing the Beloit College, attended our school Thursday morning and favored us with a short talk on the college as well as a somewhat longer one on his trip through China. He carried with him many relics from China and gave us a very interesting talk.

—We have just received a complete stock of garden and field seeds from Northup, King & Co. All northern grown and warranted. Centralia Hardware Co.

The machinery in the sawmill owned by W. P. Wheeless at Pittsville is to be shipped to Everett, Washington, where it will be utilized in a new mill for the manufacture of cedar and fir lumber. It will be operated by a firm under the name and style of Wheeless, Widauer & Co.

Tomahawk is to have a new tannery with a capacity of 500 hides daily and a capital stock of $5,000,000 and give employment to 200. The instigators claim that the institution will be "trust proof." That is, they will not allow any corporation to buy up the institution and close it up.

—Our line of ready to wear hats for spring and summer of 1901 is now ready and is exceptionally extensive and replete with new and original creations. We cordially invite all the ladies to view it. Watch for opening dates to appear later.

MISS A. SCHMIDT & CO.

Charles Payne, who was arrested with the Cox family in the town of Lincoln, had his hearing at Marshfield on Thursday of last week and was charged with rape, but he testified that he was engaged to be married to the oldest girl and the mother of the girl stated that she was seventeen years of age.

Contrary to expectations last fall potatoes are bringing a very low price this spring and about the best that can be done is 25 cents a bushel. Many farmers held their tubers last fall expecting to do better than offered, but it seems that it was a mistake. There does not seem to be much prospect of rise, just at present.

J. B. Hanna of Pittsville has filed an application for an increase of pension. Mr. Hanna was in the regular army during the Spanish-American war and suffered the loss of an eye at Santiago through sickness. The other eye has become somewhat affected since then so that his sight is very poor. Mr. Hanna now receives $12 per month.

The bad weather of Saturday prevented many farmers from meeting Mr. Moody at the library building last Saturday afternoon, but what were present seemed to be interested in the matter, and should it be decided to build a pickle factory here there is no doubt that there would be plenty of farmers ready to go into the raising of cucumbers to make the venture a success.

Private advices received from Dawson, N. D., tell of a painful accident to Dr. Teddy Ketchum, oldest son of Wm. Ketchum, formerly of this city. The boy, who is about 14 years old, was out hunting on horseback and the animal fell on the boy and crushed one foot so badly that he was unable to help himself, and the result was that he lay out on the prairie four hours, where he was found by his father and taken home.

It seems to be the opinion of a large number of people that the organization of a humane society would be about the proper thing in this city. During the cold, blustering days of winter there are many cases where a humane officer could alleviate the suffering of some dumb brute, left standing for hours by a thoughtless owner. These are not the only cases that occur where the humane society would do well to take hold of, but there are many others that occur almost daily.

H. Vandenberg returned Wednesday from a trip to Milwaukee and Green Bay where he was called to attend the funeral of his father, John Vandenberg, who died in Milwaukee March 22, from a stroke of paralysis. His remains were taken to Green Bay for interment. The funeral took place Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Willebrord's Catholic church, Rev. Father Vansiers officiating. John Vandenberg was one of the oldest settlers in Green Bay. He was born in North Brodhead, Holland, August 9th, 1823, came to America in 1848 and resided at Cleveland, Ohio, until the spring of 1851 when he went to Green Bay and has been a resident of that city ever since until a few weeks prior to his death. The deceased was 77 years, 5 months, 13 days.

It is the opinion of a large number of people that the organization of a humane society would be about the proper thing in this city. During the cold, blustering days of winter there are many cases where a humane officer could alleviate the suffering of some dumb brute, left standing for hours by a thoughtless owner. These are not the only cases that occur where the humane society would do well to take hold of, but there are many others that occur almost daily.

—The bad weather of Saturday prevented many farmers from meeting Mr. Moody at the library building last Saturday afternoon, but what were present seemed to be interested in the matter, and should it be decided to build a pickle factory here there is no doubt that there would be plenty of farmers ready to go into the raising of cucumbers to make the venture a success.

J. B. Hanna of Pittsville has filed an application for an increase of pension. Mr. Hanna was in the regular army during the Spanish-American war and suffered the loss of an eye at Santiago through sickness. The other eye has become somewhat affected since then so that his sight is very poor. Mr. Hanna now receives $12 per month.

The bad weather of Saturday prevented many farmers from meeting Mr. Moody at the library building last Saturday afternoon, but what were present seemed to be interested in the matter, and should it be decided to build a pickle factory here there is no doubt that there would be plenty of farmers ready to go into the raising of cucumbers to make the venture a success.

—The bad weather of Saturday prevented many farmers from meeting Mr. Moody at the library building last Saturday afternoon, but what were present seemed to be interested in the matter, and should it be decided to build a pickle factory here there is no doubt that there would be plenty of farmers ready to go into the raising of cucumbers to make the venture a success.

—The bad weather of Saturday prevented many farmers from meeting Mr. Moody at the library building last Saturday afternoon, but what were present seemed to be interested in the matter, and should it be decided to build a pickle factory here there is no doubt that there would be plenty of farmers ready to go into the raising of cucumbers to make the venture a success.

—The bad weather of Saturday prevented many farmers from meeting Mr. Moody at the library building last Saturday afternoon, but what were present seemed to be interested in the matter, and should it be decided to build a pickle factory here there is no doubt that there would be plenty of farmers ready to go into the raising of cucumbers to make the venture a success.

—The bad weather of Saturday prevented many farmers from meeting Mr. Moody at the library building last Saturday afternoon, but what were present seemed to be interested in the matter, and should it be decided to build a pickle factory here there is no doubt that there would be plenty of farmers ready to go into the raising of cucumbers to make the venture a success.

—The bad weather of Saturday prevented many farmers from meeting Mr. Moody at the library building last Saturday afternoon, but what were present seemed to be interested in the matter, and should it be decided to build a pickle factory here there is no doubt that there would be plenty of farmers ready to go into the raising of cucumbers to make the venture a success.

—The bad weather of Saturday prevented many farmers from meeting Mr. Moody at the library building last Saturday afternoon, but what were present seemed to be interested in the matter, and should it be decided to build a pickle factory here there is no doubt that there would be plenty of farmers ready to go into the raising of cucumbers to make the venture a success.

—The bad weather of Saturday prevented many farmers from meeting Mr. Moody at the library building last Saturday afternoon, but what were present seemed to be interested in the matter, and should it be decided to build a pickle factory here there is no doubt that there would be plenty of farmers ready to go into the raising of cucumbers to make the venture a success.

—The bad weather of Saturday prevented many farmers from meeting Mr. Moody at the library building last Saturday afternoon, but what were present seemed to be interested in the matter, and should

HANG A MAN FOR FUN.

MOTHER CAN'T GET HER CHILDREN BACK.

They Were Adopted While She Was Poor, But She Is Now Well Off.

Oshkosh, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Cardinal Fathers of Milwaukee is here and is trying to regain possession of her two children, whom she relinquished when she was in poverty in 1892. She allowed her children to be sent to the State school on an order of the Milwaukee poor commissioners. In 1893 they were adopted by two Neenah families. Now the mother, who has remarried and is in comfortable circumstances, wants her children, but is now unable to get them. Her husband is willing. She proposes to test the state law which gives the board of control power to consent to adoption of children from the school. P. W. Huntington of Milwaukee is her attorney.

FOUR MEN INJURED.

Engineer Falvin of Stanley in Wreck on the Wisconsin Central Road.

St. Paul, Minn., March 25.—A freight train of the Wisconsin Central was wrecked under the Mississippi street bridge today. The injured are: John Falvin, engineer, badly scalded and crushed under the engine.

Emil Probst, fireman, scalded and crushed.

D. A. Wooberry, badly injured under wreckage.

Henry Dell and Thomas La Plan, slightly injured.

Falvin, Probst and Wooberry are very badly injured.

The train was pulling up the heavy grade toward the Mississippi street bridge. Just as the first engine reached the curve near the bridge it passed the track and the second engine passed the first engine directly across the track. Both engines and many of the cars were entirely wrecked and the hose is heavy.

New Richmond, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—John Falvin, one of the oldest engineers in the employ of the Wisconsin Central, whose home was in Stanley, was injured this morning between St. Paul and Minneapolis. He was on board a switch engine pulling freight train No. 23, which was running a double-header over the Great Northern tracks. Both engines jumped the track and went into a ditch.

HIT STRAIGHT HOME.

Father's Complaint Unexpectedly Causes the Arrest and Punishment of Son.

Madison, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Henry Shetter of McFarland has been to Madison and conferred with Gov. La Follette and the game warden with reference to the enforcement of the laws against fishing, particularly on the lake near his home. Sheriff Burnham was called upon to make a special effort to enforce the laws and he detailed two deputies who went to McFarland. The first man caught was Fred Shetter, a son of the complainant. In his possession were two planked fish which he had caught as they came close to shore to spawn. Young Shetter pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs.

DEATHS IN THE STATE.

John H. Funk, Kaukauna.

Kaukauna, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—John H. Funk, aged 64 years, a soldier of the War of the Rebellion, died here yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Surgis. Mr. Funk served in Co. D, Nineteenth Wisconsin Infantry.

His son Louis survives.

Alfred Mills, Kaukauna.

Kaukauna, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Alfred Mills, aged 24 years, died from consumption at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Mills, yesterday.

Miss Clara Hallauer, Two Rivers.

Two Rivers, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Miss Clara Hallauer of this city died at her home here today from consumption, aged 28 years. She was the daughter of George Hallauer, an old and respected citizen.

Henry Diegel, Osecola.

Osecola, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Henry Diegel, a pioneer resident of Poplar Lake, is dead, aged about 65 years.

SUPERINTENDENT HEG RESIGNS.

He Leaves the State Reformatory at Green Bay.

Green Bay, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Supt. James E. Heg of the state reformatory, this afternoon forwarded formal resignation to the state board of control to take effect not later than May 1. In response to an urgent telegram from the New Jersey state board of control he wired his acceptance of the position of superintendent of the new reformatory to be opened at Rahway, N. J., shortly after May 1, on a contract for five years.

STEAMER SINKS AT ALMA.

Goes Down When the Ice Went Out of the River.

Alma, Wis., March 26.—[Special.]—The steamer E. Douglas, which has been in winter quarters near West Newton, sank when the ice went out. There is about two feet of water above the deck, and a large crew of men are at work trying to raise the boat. The steamer is owned by the Mississippi River Logging and Bait company.

OSHKOSH MAN KILLS HIMSELF.

Long Illness Causes Him to Commit Suicide.

Oshkosh, Wis., March 26.—[Special.]—Albert Lank, a carpenter, aged 31 years, committed suicide by drowning himself in the river. He had been ill for some time. A wife and five children survive him.

RUNAWAY COMES TO GRIEVE.

Portage La Prairie, Who Went to Texas to Reform School.

Oshkosh, Wis., March 26.—[Special.]—Henry Perles, the lad who ran away from home and went to Texas several months ago, attempted to leave again. He was caught at Madison and was sent to the Industrial school at Wausau.

Can't be Found.

Green Bay, Wis., March 26.—John Dulezal, who is wanted in this city for one night in prison under false pretenses, and was released from trial on March 1, is dead. He was the father of Prof. L. Eugene Dulezal of this city. He was born in Racine, Wis., in 1849.

Awarded Racing Contract.

Racine, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Michael Rierdon died of pneumonia, aged 37.

MAY SMASH SLOT MACHINES.

Man Wrecked and Robbed Device but Won't be Prosecuted.

Appleton, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—A drunkard man armed with a hatchet smashed a slot machine in a saloon here Saturday and stole the money therein, amounting to $7. Because the machine was a gambling device, all of which were recently ordered out of saloons, but are now being quietly sneaked back again, the man will not be prosecuted.

AMERY PASTOR DEAD.

Rev. C. W. Dennis of Congregational Church Dies.

New Richmond, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Rev. C. W. Dennis, pastor of the Congregational church at Amery, is dead. He was the father of Prof. L. Eugene Dennis of this city. He was born in Racine, Wis., in 1849.

Awarded Racing Contract.

Racine, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—John Jones of this city was awarded the contract for paving Sixteenth street with brick.

AWARDING DIVORCE.

Oshkosh, Wis., March 26.—[Special.]—Wilhelmina Befley was divorced Saturday from Ernst Below for cruelty and because he was sentenced in 1895 to one year in prison for train robbery. She was acquitted at the time on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

LA GROSSE PHYSICIAN DIES.

Dr. C. R. Stoddard Passes Away in California.

La Crosse, Wis., March 26.—[Special.]—Dr. Charles R. Stoddard, a former resident of this city and widely known in Wisconsin, died in California last week at the age of 65 years. He came here in 1877 and practiced medicine until 1892, when he went to California.

Baddy Hurt at Wauauke.

Wauauke, Wis., March 26.—[Special.]—William Reed was badly hurt at the railroad crossing while attempting to board a freight train. He slipped and was thrown down. Three ribs were broken and the side of his face badly lacerated.

EX-CONVICT DIVORCED.

Wilhelmina Befley was divorced Saturday from Ernst Below for cruelty and because he was sentenced in 1895 to one year in prison for train robbery. She was acquitted at the time on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

DEATH OF J. W. OLIVER.

Well-Known Editor of the Waupun Leader Passes Away.

ILL SEVERAL WEEKS.

He Founded the Paper Thirty-five Years Ago; Fought in the War of the Rebellion.

Waupun, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Joseph W. Oliver died at the National hotel yesterday morning after an illness of several weeks. He had been a resident of this city for forty years, establishing the Waupun Leader, of which he was editor at the time of his death, thirty-five years ago in company with the late M. C. Short of Brandon, and having been since continuously connected with its ownership.

THE LATE J. W. OLIVER.

The funeral will be held from the residence of R. H. Oliver at 11 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, conducted by Star and Crescent Lodge No. 93, Knights of Pythias, of this city.

Joseph W. Oliver was born at Salem, Me., September 21, 1842, and came West in 1851 with his parents, who located in the town of Mackford, about fourteen miles from this city. He received a good common school education. In 1858 he began his career as a printer on the Marquette Journal, which was owned at that time by Maj. J. B. Pond. In 1861 he came to Waupun and worked for J. H. Brinkerhoff, who then owned the Times. When the war broke out he joined Co. A, Thirty-second regiment, under Capt. Woodford.

The following lines appeared in the Waupun Times August 21, 1862: "Our printer boy, Joseph W. Oliver, as fine a boy as ever drew on a boat, has enrolled his name in Lieut. Woodruff's company and will go to the war." This leaves us in a "fix," and for one week will make it necessary to serve our readers with a half-sheet." After serving about two weeks he was discharged from a hospital.

Mr. Oliver and M. C. Short, who for many years was editor of the Brandon Times, bought the Green Lake Spectator and in August, 1866, the plant was moved to Waupun and the Waupun Leader was started October 6, 1871, his brother, Rufus H., bought a half interest, and the paper is still running under the firm name of Oliver Bros. Mr. Oliver has always taken a great interest in the welfare of the city, was one of the prime movers for a waterworks system, and was made superintendent of construction when the plant was installed. He served on the state board of control the last two years of Peck's administration, and received many compliments on his good work while a member of that body. Mr. Oliver is a member of the Masonic Knights of Pythias and G. A. R. lodges of this city.

Mr. Oliver married Miss Lucy Ann Morse of Waupun September 7, 1864, who died August 25, 1880. Two daughters were born to them, May and Blanche. The former is now Mrs. Charles E. Rogers of Fond du Lac, and the latter died in 1875.

R. C. Robertson, New Richmond.

New Richmond, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Robert C. Robertson, 72 years, died yesterday morning, after a prolonged illness, at the home of his son-in-law, Frank Anderson, just outside of the city. He was one of the oldest Masons in the state. He was born in New York, but came to Wisconsin at an early day, and for a number of years lived in Waukesha county, before coming to New Richmond. He has held both town and city offices.

Will Riley died yesterday of typhoid-pneumonia in Minneapolis, where he was attending a medical college. He was 21 years of age, and his home was in Erin Prairie, this county.

Moses Verhunk, Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Moses Verhunk died at the home of his son, four miles south of this city, yesterday. Mr. Verhunk was 84 years of age and came to this state when 15 years of age, settling at Green Bay, where he remained for a few years, later moved to Port Edwards where he has resided for fifty-five years.

Mr. Oliver married Miss Lucy Ann Morse of Waupun September 7, 1864, who died August 25, 1880. Two daughters were born to them, May and Blanche. The former is now Mrs. Charles E. Rogers of Fond du Lac, and the latter died in 1875.

R. C. Robertson, New Richmond.

New Richmond, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Robert C. Robertson, 72 years, died yesterday morning, after a prolonged illness, at the home of his son-in-law, Frank Anderson, just outside of the city. He was one of the oldest Masons in the state. He was born in New York, but came to Wisconsin at an early day, and for a number of years lived in Waukesha county, before coming to New Richmond. He has held both town and city offices.

Will Riley died yesterday of typhoid-pneumonia in Minneapolis, where he was attending a medical college. He was 21 years of age, and his home was in Erin Prairie, this county.

Moses Verhunk, Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Moses Verhunk died at the home of his son, four miles south of this city, yesterday. Mr. Verhunk was 84 years of age and came to this state when 15 years of age, settling at Green Bay, where he remained for a few years, later moved to Port Edwards where he has resided for fifty-five years.

Many colars are flooded and considerable damage is being done by the high water in the central portions of the city. A number of cellars have been flooded by the rise in the river, but the damage thus far has not been heavy. The Lange block is one of the places affected and the business college had to suspend. The water level was nearly stationary this morning and it was thought it will become higher.

Iron Mountain, Mich., March 26.—[Special.]—The waters of the west branch of the Fond du Lac river rose to a great height last night, inundating the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad tracks, the side tracks in the Wisconsin Central depot yards and were within a foot of covering the main tracks of the Central. There was some question of the Milwaukee road's morning passenger being able to get out, the engineer believing that the water was at such a depth over the tracks that the fires would be extinguished, and the attempt was finally made and the train passed through without accident. The sight of the engine slowly plowing its way through the waters throwing a small spray from the pilot, was a pretty one.

Many colars are flooded and considerable damage is being done by the high water in the central portions of the city.

A number of cellars have been flooded by the rise in the river, but the damage thus far has not been heavy. The Lange block is one of the places affected and the business college had to suspend. The water level was nearly stationary this morning and it was thought it will become higher.

Iron Mountain, Mich., March 26.—[Special.]—The sudden warm weather has caused a great freshet and many basements are flooded. The Chapin schools are abandoned on the first floor.

Michael Rierdon, Racine.

Racine, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Michael Rierdon died of pneumonia, aged 37.

SEAFARING MEN KNOW THE VALUE OF TOWER'S FISH BRAND OILED CLOTHING.

It WILL KEEP YOU DRY IN THE WETTEST WEATHER.

SHOWING FULL LINE OF GARMENTS AND HATS.

A. J. TOWER CO. BOSTON, MASS.

REQUISITION IS GRANTED.

John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis.

GREEN RAPE 25 cents per ton.

Greatest, Cheapest Food on Earth for Sheep, Swine, Cattle, Poultry, etc.

Will bear $100 to you to read what Salzer's Patent says.

Billion Dollar Grass will probably make you rich 15 tons of hay and 100 bushels of pasture grass, to 100 bushels, Peas, Spuds, 100 lbs. corn, 200 lbs. oats, etc., etc.

For this Notice and 100 lbs. of Salzer's Patent, 100 lbs. of grass, 100 bushels of pasture grass, 100 bushels of oats, etc., etc.

For 100 lbs. of Salzer's Patent, 100 bushels of pasture grass, 100 bushels of oats, etc., etc.

John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis.

WANTAD.

AT ONCE.

POULTRY MIXTURE.

WANTAD.

WANTAD.

WANTAD.

WANTAD.

WANTAD.

WANTAD.

WANTAD.

WANTAD.

WANTAD.

TRYING TO SUPPRESS TERRIBLE TURK.

The coming match between Neuralath, the terrible Turk, and Paul Pons, the French wrestler, will be a contest of strength vs. science. Pons is by no means a weakling, but he is a feeble infant compared to the Turk, who has more than once broken his adversary's rib by clashing him in his vis-like embrace. The Turk, however, wholly lacks in science, whereby the Frenchman will have a great advantage.

Humorous Items.

COMING CANADIAN CENSUS.

Effort to Show as Large a Population as Possible for the Dominion.

New Cook (who has just been sacked)—"I must call your attention to the fact that I am writing my autobiography, and everything you have said to me will soon appear in print!"—Eliogreen Blaeter.

Godded the Cash—Reporter—"I am told that your trusted cashier has left the bank?"—Bank President—"Did he? Thank heavens, we have the building to start with again!"—Ohio State Journal.

Magistrate—"Will you take the consequences of pleading guilty?"

Ephraim Chalkeye—"Heed, judge, I won't take nulla of ya; let me off 'n stealin' dem two pullets!"—Ohio State Journal.

Beneath His Dignity—"Joe Jefferson doesn't resort to any such advertising dodge as having his diamonds stolen." "No. He's afraid the papers might refer to it as Jellerzonian simplicity."—Leslie's Weekly.

Bobbie—"Pop, are we among the best people?"

Papa—"We are, Bobbie."

Bobbie fatter a thoughtful silence—"Pop, is the best always the cheapest?"—Leslie's Weekly.

Butcher—"Come, John, be lively now. Break the bone in Mr. Williamson's chops, and put Mr. Smith's ribs in the basket for him!"

John (obliquely)—"All right, sir; just as soon as I've carved off Mr. Murphy's leg!"—Tit-Bits.

Mr. Courtenay (flatteringly)—"I had the blues awfully when I came here to-night, Miss Fisher, but they are all gone now. You look as good as medicine."

Miss Fisher's Little Brother—"Yes, father says she will be a dring in the market if she doesn't marry you."—Tit-Bits.

Ethel—"Pop, are we among the best people?"

Ethel—"Did she?"

"Yes, and it was great fun. We played 'blind man's buff,' and they let me be the blind man nearly all the time."—Philadelphia Press.

Tommy had been boasting about his new brother.

"How old is he, Tom?" asked the policeman.

"Two weeks," said Tom.

"He's very small, isn't he?"

"Yes," said Tom, "he's pretty small—that is, all except his voice."—Tit-Bits.

"Guzzini has been going without his breakfast for a month to reduce his flesh," said Twywy.

"With what effect?" asked Trippiet.

"He is losing two pounds a week, and is very much tickled over it."

"Well, if he keeps on at that rate he'll be tickled to death!"—Detroit Free Press.

Church—"Have you a cozy corner in your house?"

Gotham—"Oh, yes; my wife has arranged two of them."

"You must enjoy them after a hard day's work."

"Enjoy nothing! The cat has one, and my wife's dog occupies the other!"—Youth's Statesman.

The Youth's Companion reports a fine illustration of the text, "Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings," etc. "Did your playmate enjoy her visit?" said mamma to her small daughter, who had just bidden adieu to her little friend. "Why, yes, mamma, I think she did," replied the child. "I called her 'my dear' very often, in that dressy tone you use when you have company."

Jack's father and mother were having a very heated discussion at the table one day. They entirely forgot him, and, as the argument waxed fiercer, he leaped from one to the other with real concern on his chubby face. Presently, during a lull, he cleared the air by asking pointedly:

"Papa, did you marry mamma, or did mamma marry you?"—Brooklyn Life.

"I never thought he would propose to her."

"He didn't."

"Then how did she get him?"

"Well, he was slightly indignant and she misconstrued his remarks. He asked her to marry him in the punch bowl and she thought he asked her to marry him. At any rate she accepted him and he's too gallant to dispute her version of the affair."—San Francisco Town Talk.

Hank the blacksmith—"How do de Rebe?"

Rebe—"How do de, Hank? Can't captain. How's everything with you?" How's yer family?"

Hank—"First rate! Anything I can do for you, Rebe?"

Rebe—"Yes, guess yer kin. Say, Hank?"

Hank—"Well?"

Rebe—"I kem around few see of you wouldn't loan mother yer ladder. Our house is on fire."—Judge.

A Political Walnut.

An amusing episode occurred at a political meeting at Lavender during the general election. After hearing the speeches of the candidate and his supporters, an aged Conservative from Wolverton mounted the platform and caused some mystery by dramatically holding aloft a walnut, when he proceeded to say:

"This is a political walnut. The rough shell represents the Radicals; the next, the thin, bitter skin, is the Liberals, and the kernel represents the good Conservative."

A man in the audience cried out:

"Now crack it!"

The Wolverton Tory did so, when, lo and behold! the kernel was rotten! The admixture of laughter and chagrin that followed may be imagined.—Spare Moments.

NEARLY GONE.

Mrs. Julia A. Mallahan, of Owosso, Mich., Has a Very Narrow Escape—The Doctor Had Little Hope.

Owosso, Mich., March 25. (Special.)—Elite Rebekah Lodge, No. 2, I. O. O. F., of this town, came very nearly losing their esteemed and capable Secretary, Mrs. Julia A. Mallahan. Mrs. Mallahan caught a severe cold last winter, and like many others, failed to recognize the dangerous possibilities until it had settled in her kidneys, and left her with very severe bearing-down pains and almost constant backache. It almost carried her off. Mrs. Mallahan tells the story this way:

"I caught a cold last winter, which I neglected until it settled in my kidneys, causing severe bearing-down pains and almost constant backache. My health had previously been so good that I paid little attention to these symptoms, until the disease had gone so far that my doctor entertained but a slight hope of my recovery.

Fortunately one of our Lodge Members mentioned Dodd's Kidney Pills. Her description of the cures they had effected sounded like a fairy tale, but I sent for a box, deciding to give them a trial. I soon found that she had but half told the story of what they could do. I bless the day I first tried them, and have nothing but the highest praise for them."

Many very valuable lives have been saved by the timely use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and not a few of these have been in Owosso and other neighboring Michigan towns. There seems to be no case of kidney trouble or backache that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure.

They are 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50. Buy them from your local druggist if you can. If he cannot supply you, send to the Dadds Medicine Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Missouri Not Patriotic.

The Missouri statehouse does not display a national flag and does not own one. A resolution authorizing the purchase of one has been referred to the House committee on federal relations. The belief in Jefferson City is that the committee will pigeonhole it.

Two Big Pains

Rheumatism

and ### Neuralgia

but there is one sure and prompt cure for both, viz:

St. Jacobs Oil

seem to be the heritage of the human family everywhere, viz:

Yon Can Get Allen's Foot-Pain FREE.

Write to-day to Allen S. Olmsted, 14 Roy, N. Y., for FREE sample of Allen's Foot-Pain powder to shake into your shoes.

It cures tired, sweating, damp, swollen, aching feet. It makes new or light shoes easy. A certain cure for Corns and Bunions. All druggists and shoe stores sell it.

Congressional Library Visitors.

The number of persons visiting the Library of Congress on inauguration day was 72,672 by actual count kept by a mechanical register. In three days—Saturday, Sunday and Monday—the total was over 100,000 persons.

CLIPPING AGENCY.

Government to Aid the Various Scientific Departments in Their Work.

In connection with various departments at Washington is a newspaper clipping bureau. Here are received all the publications of the country, and their contents carefully scanned, clipped and the articles sorted into batches in which the several departments may be interested. Thus all these having a scientific bearing find their way to the National museum, where they are again sorted and placed in the hands of the several curators. By this means if anyone is reported to have dug up a mastodon, the account of it reaches the paleontologists and inquiry is made in regard to the reported discovery. One of the things which have been of special use in the report of the fallings of any meteoric body is a valuable accession by this means. A telegram from some obscure Southern town told of the fall of a meteorite there, and this was brought to the attention of the curator of the meteorites, and he immediately communicated with the president, who, being a government official, was bound to aid in the search. Phila. Record.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Cataract that cannot be cured by Hall's Cataract Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Prop., Toledo, O. We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Walton, Kinnon & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Cataract Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Flaxgrowing in Idaho.

F. W. Kettenbach of Lewiston, Idaho, states that the farmers on Nez Perces Prairie will put in a still larger acreage of flax this year. Flax-growers are making contracts with the grain dealers to deliver flax at any of the Clearwater Short Line shipping points for a minimum price of 90 cents a bushel, the arrangement being that the farmer shall receive at least 90 cents a bushel, and if the price be higher than that the dealer will pay within 30 cents a bushel of the Chicago quotation.

Speltz, the Richest Food Out.

The articles in the John A. Salzer Seed Company's catalog, La Crosse, Wis., on Speltz, Bismarck Hog Food Peat, Billion Dollar Grass, Victoria Rape and Bromus Inermis are worth $500,000 of any wide-awake farmer's money, particularly the one on Speltz is remarkably interesting on account of the wonderful richness of this productive, prolific hay and grain food. We urge every farmer to get Salzer's catalog and read about Speltz.

Filing a Post.

"I think, sir," said the applicant for a situation, "that I can fill any post you may happen to have vacant in your establishment."

"Do you think," said the old merchant, who was a student of language, "that 'fill a post' is a correct figure of speech?"

"Perhaps I should have said," the applicant went on, "that I can fill any posthole you may happen to have vacant."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more GRAIN-O you give the children the more healthy you distribute through their systems. GRAIN-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like choice grades of coffee, but costs about 1/2 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c and 25c.

Mosquitoes and Malaria.

In consequence of the increasing number of cases of chronic malaria in the neighborhood of Moscow, Prof. Ziegler made investigations of a most searching character, and he confirms the opinion of the English scientists that the disease is communicated by a certain kind of mosquito.

You Can Get Allen's Foot-Pain FREE.

Write to-day to Allen S. Olmsted, 14 Roy, N. Y., for FREE sample of Allen's Foot-Pain powder to shake into your shoes. It cures tired, sweating, damp, swollen, aching feet. It makes new or light shoes easy. A certain cure for Corns and Bunions. All druggists and shoe stores sell it.

Congressional Library Visitors.

The number of persons visiting the Library of Congress on inauguration day was 72,672 by actual count kept by a mechanical register. In three days—Saturday, Sunday and Monday—the total was over 100,000 persons.

Pacific Coast Needs Manufactories.

The future of the Pacific coast, if it is to have any worth of the name, is dependent on the manufacture of the raw material produced within its limits and drawn from outside to supply the wants of its own production and those of the available foreign territory. In other words, the Pacific coast must have such a future as is connected with the history of the industrial, commercial and financial supremacy of Great Britain during the Nineteenth century, such a future as is visibly drawing for the United States, with its center on the Atlantic seaboard, during the Twentieth century, or it must remain forever in a condition of comparative sub-servitude. Engineering Magazines.

Lasting Quality of Musk Odor.

It is said that a grain of musk will diffuse a perceptible odor through a room for twenty years. It does this by filling the air with particles of its substance, that being the way in which all perfumes act; and yet so infinitesimally small are the particles that the grain of musk shows no diminution of weight at the end of the twenty years.

Lane's Family Medicine.

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

Mostly in the Country.

In British India only 9% per cent. of the population live in cities.

A Month's Test Free.

For large box, 14c; for six bottles of its Rheumatic Cure, express paid. Send no money. Pay $5.00 if cured.

For the first time in its history the British Church Missionary society has passed the £400,000 point in its annual receipts.

It requires no experience to dye with PITTNAH PALELESS DYES. Simply boiling your goods in the dye is all that's necessary. Sold by druggists.

—Literacy has decreased among Southern negroes 50 per cent. in twenty years.

I do not believe Piso's Cure for Consumption has an equal for coughs, and colds. John F. Boyer, Trinity Springs Ind., Feb. 15, 1900.

—In density of population Arizona has 1,000 inhabitants to the square mile.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for children teething; sooths the pains, relieves inflammation, allays frets, cures who-cough, 25c a bottle.

—Northumberland is the worst county for drunkenness in England.

WANTED: Young men to learn telegraphy. See letter from graduate with railroad, Milwaukee Telegraph School, Belmont Ridge, Milwaukee.

—Berlin people can say "Hello" on 50,000 telephones.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment, and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice

PITTSVILLE ITEMS.

Clayton Drummond who attempted to organize a military company here last fall is desirous of renewing his efforts in that direction this spring. He is thoroughly posted on drill and marching manual of the U. S. army and the instruction would be very beneficial to our young men and also furnish them abundant entertainment of a social nature.

The farmers around Veedum held a meeting at Paulson's store Saturday night to talk over the matter of a cheese factory. There were about twenty farmers present and they secured over 100 cows. The following officers were elected: F. Gorham, president, A. B. Ellis, secretary, Jessie Carr, Hans Paulson and A. B. Ellis committee.

Agent Ward received checks the first of the week for settlement of damages of those injured in the train wreck near here recently, as follows: Frank Smith, $175; L. Shumway, $25; Mrs. Shumway, $275; A. L. Covey, $25. Each of above were paid the sum of $25 at a time of accident as part payment of their claims, in addition to a settlement of doctors' bills. Mrs. Shumway has not accepted her check yet as she believes an error has been made in allowing her claim.

Thirteen families consisting of thirty-one people arrived at Progress Sunday from Missouri. They have purchased farms near that place and commenced settling down at once.

C. E. Fero has been granted an increase of pension from $6 to $8 per month.

BIRON.

Henry Mundinger, a machine tender in the mill, while helping to put the paper through the calenders Monday night got two fingers of his left hand smashed pretty bad. Dr. Pomainville dressed the wounded members and they are now getting along nicely. Mr. Mundinger resigned his position and went to his home at Port Edwards.

The water has been rising steadily during the last week and an ice jam has formed below the dam. Very high water is expected this spring and a crew of men are at work cutting channels in the ice above the dam to break it up.

A party of young men from Grand Rapids was in this village Wednesday and while in the mill their team got away and the boys had the pleasure of getting back the best way they could.

The boys at the boarding house have bought a pair of boxing gloves with which they make things lively around here.

While fooling around one of his father's horses Sunday, Leland Swartzout was severely bitten in the face.

Sheridan Jessimer moved to town Monday and drives to work with his fast trotter.

Fred and William DeMars are visiting with their parents this week.

PORT EDWARDS.

Misses Retta Cleveland and Fanny Burrows and Messrs. C. A. Jasperson and C. S. Whittlesey were among the Port Edwards people who attended the dance at Nekoosa Wednesday.

Henry Forbes, our esteemed town clerk, has returned from Madison to stay until after election. He paid our village an official visit Tuesday.

The town board of audit met on Tuesday and the various officers were in town winding up affairs preparatory to the election on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Garrison attended the hop at Grand Rapids Tuesday evening and Wednesday evening the one at Nekoosa.

Miss Nellie Young has been visiting at Nekoosa this week and incidentally took in the dance Wednesday evening.

H. L. Vachrean was a Grand Rapids visitor between trains Saturday.

CRANMOOR.

Daniel Rezin, wife and daughter, Charles Kruger, Roy Lester, Misses Anna Granger and Myra Kruger and the Whittlesey family were in attendance at the concert given by Fisk's orchestra at Nekoosa Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Lena Subs left on the Sunday morning train to visit with her sisters, Mrs. Carl Larson of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Edward Christianson of Ogdensburg, returning to Cranmoor Monday night.

Lafe Brooks, the genial liveryman of west Grand Rapids with his elder children and a Mr. Preston of Strong's Prairie drove out to call on their friends, the A. E. Bennett family, last Sunday.

George Scott came down Saturday evening and spent Sunday with the home folks, returning to Port Edwards Monday morning.

Miss Griffith and pupils of the North school are enjoying a spring vacation. School closed the 26th inst. and will reopen until April 8.

Bernice Lester accompanied Miss Griffith to Grand Rapids Wednesday and will spend several days visiting.

Treasurer S. N. Whittlesey spent last Tuesday at Port Edwards with the board of audit.

A. E. Bennett was a county seat visitor Wednesday.

Working 24 Hours a Day.

There's no rest for those tireless little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always busy, curing Torpid Liver, Jaundice, Biliousness, Fever and Ague. They banish Sick Headache, drive out Malaria. Never gripe or weaken. Small, taste nice, work wonders. Try them. 25¢ at Johnson Hill & Co. and John E. Daly.

—Dr. A. J. Krugman, Centralia. Office over Centralia Drug Store. Telephone No. 92. Telephone at residence, No. 23.

Seed Oats.

—We have 1000 bushels of select seed oats selling at 35 cents, clover seed both medium and mammoth at 26 per bushel, choice timothy at $2.50. Farmers come quick. The Centralia Hardware Co.

NEKOOSA.

The following ticket was placed in nomination by the citizens party on Monday evening: President A. E. will leave here April 9th for Alberta, Foothills; A. Zurhubs, H. E. Herrick, Thomas Snell and C. Marceau; clerk, supervisor, Wm. Hooper; assessor, Richard Scheibe; constable, Wm. Knight; justice of the peace, H. A. Morgan. Thos. Snell and C. Marceau have since withdrawn and the vacancies filled by S. Brazeau and P. Jagozinski.

Men are engaged in blasting the ice above the dam. Dynamite is used in the work and as the ice is quite thick heavy charges are necessary.

The concert and ball given on Wednesday evening by the Duke Fisk orchestra was well attended and there was a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gahl are happy over the arrival of a baby boy, which occurred on Tuesday.

A Card.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50 cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25 cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

John E. Daly.
Johnson & Hill Co.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed bids will be received up to April 10, 1901, at noon for the erection and completion of a brick veneer Catholic church, to be erected at Sigel, Wood Co. Wis. First, the complete building; second, different branches of the work; third, heating. Heating men are to make out specifications, specifying what they will furnish, all according to plans and specifications. The plans and specifications can be had at Rev. James Garra's residence, Junction City, Portage Co. Wis.

For Sale Cheap.

A two story frame house of four rooms and four lots 51x135, with well, woodshed, nice lawn, shade trees, etc., on Milwaukee street, can be bought for $600, on account of owner leaving town. This is worth investigating. Call at the Tribune office for further information.

—Dr. Chas. Pouainville, Dentist, Office over J. A. Cohen's store, Grand Rapids, Wis. Telephone 216.

RUDOLPH.

We are about to lose some of our old time residents. A party of forty will leave here April 9th for Alberta, Canada. John A. Flanagan, the Canadian government agent here, has been doing some hustling work in securing settlers and the result is the large colony mentioned. While we feel sorry to lose so many old neighbors we still wish them prosperity in their new homes. The Canadian government offers such good inducements and the reports from those already sent out by Agent Flanagan are so encouraging that it is no wonder that so many are leaving here.

William Pfund has started for Menasha, Wis., where he expects to make his future home, having sold his farm to Aug. Jacoby. William has been a prosperous farmer but makes the change on account of the illness of his wife, hoping that she may be restored to health thereby.

The M. W. A. will give a grand dance April 9. The members extend a cordial invitation to everybody to attend their dance. Supper will be served by T. LaVague.

J. O. Hassell has been lucky enough after driving for about a month, to strike water on his farm. The flow is large enough to supply his neighbors.

Salme Gukey is home again after visiting with relatives and friends at Marshfield, Stratford and Loyat, Wis.

Carl Dunholt and George Cooper came back from the woods on Sunday night.

Alfred Akey of Biron visited relatives and friends here last Sunday.

Sheriff McLaughlin was in our burg Monday on business.

THE CRITERION.

$1.00 a Year. 10 Cents a Copy.

The best illustrated monthly magazine of the kind published. Its pages are filled by a brilliant array of writers and artists. Its authoritative and independent reviews of books, plays, music and art, its clever stories, strong special articles, humor and verse, with fine illustrations, make it a necessity in every intelligent home. The very low subscription price—$1.00 per year—puts it within the reach of all. Reliable agents wanted in every town. Extraordinary inducements. Write for particulars. A trial subscription will prove it.

Write today for sample copy.

CRITERION PUBLICATION CO.,
Subscription Department,
41 East 21st St., N. Y. City.

Have You Any Old Gold?

Hirzy, the jeweler, will buy your old gold if you have any for sale and give you the highest price for it. He will also make over old gold into jewelry, rings, etc., for 35 cents a pennyweight.

A. P. HIRZY

GRAND RAPIDS, WIS.

G. Bruderli,
HAND MADE
BOOTS AND SHOES.

Repairing promptly attended to. All work first class in every respect.

SHOP OPPOSITE JOHNSON & HILL CO.

EASTER-TIDE!

THE spirit and influence of Easter pervades the whole store; wherever you turn you feel it—subtly, but surely. The new suits, the new trousers, the new hats, the new neckwear, all speak the cheer and brightness of a new born season.

BEAUTY | QUALITY | PRICES

The stocks we show were never more crowded with beautiful goods than at present. Manufacturers have vied with each other in the production of exquisite fabrics and the artists and designers have evolved rich and tasteful results. The artistic showing of Clothing, Hats and Gentlemen's Furnishings is a well-spring of pleasure to the buyer, and the economic conditions are decidedly attractive.

Men's Clothing.

$5.00

All Styles, by the best makers in the world are here. Counters are high-heaped with Suits that touch every need—Practical Semi-dress and Ultra Swell for evening. These Serges, Cashmeres, Vicunas, London Thibets, worsteds and flannels, beautiful checks, cluster stripes, plain and fancy plaids. The prices are within the reach of all. Suits, $5, $7, $8.50, $10 to $20

$12.00

$10

$15.00

FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE.

No other store in Grand Rapids so thoroughly grasps the importance of that indescribable charm called "style" in boys' clothing. Again, the boys' clothing trade is gathering rapidly to our store. The youngster isn't going to scuff out in a week the suit he gets here, so we draw the line at unservable materials. $1.50 starts our list price—better and better as you pay more. The styles are extremely choice and new; the variety is plentiful.

We sell Boys' Dark Blue Serge, Blue and Black Clay worsted Confirmation Suits with long pants at $4.00, 5.00, 6.00, $7.50 to $10.00.

If we please you tell others:
If we don't,
tell us.

KRUGER & GAMERON.

GRAND RAPIDS, WISCONSIN.

ELECTION NOTICE.

Office of City Clerk, March 29, 1901.

To the Electors of the City of Grand Rapids, Wood County, Wisconsin: Notice is hereby given that a municipal election is to be held in the several wards of the city of Grand Rapids, Wood county, Wisconsin, on the 2nd day of April, A. D. 1901 at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to this office, are given opposite the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column:

INFORMATION TO VOTERS.

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters. A voter upon entering a polling place and giving his name and address, will receive ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for. The voter if he wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party, should make a cross mark X under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the square made for that purpose. A ballot so marked, and having no other mark, will become [be counted] for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a cross mark be placed in the square under the name or any place in the space occupied by the name or names of candidates in another column, and will be counted for all names written in lieu of one erased. If the voter wishes to vote for some of the candidates of different political parties, he should make a cross mark under the name of each candidate he desires to vote for, or at any place within the space in which the name is printed. If he wishes to vote for a person for a certain office whose name is not on the ballot, he must write the name in the blank space under the printed name of the candidate for the office. The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot is spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all to any one voter. Five minutes time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter. After it is marked, it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed endorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place. A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking the same to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.

The party designations and candidates for the different offices are as follows:

Office.	Citizens' Ticket.	Individual Nominations.
Mayor.....	William E. Wheeler.....	.....
Treasurer.....	Milton W. Mosher.....	.....
Assessor.....	Bernard G. Chandos.....	Newton Hubbard Robinson
Justice of the Peace.....	William H. Gets.....	Orrin Gray.....
First Ward.
Alderman.....	David L. Lutz, Jr. ....	.....
Supervisor.....	Ermund P. Arpia.....	.....
Second Ward.
Alderman.....	Gustave Schuman.....	.....
Supervisor.....	Theodore W. Brazeau.....	.....
Third Ward.
Alderman.....	William E. Gross.....	.....
Supervisor.....	William Scott.....	.....
Fourth Ward.
Alderman.....	Charles Bunde.....	Charles Lubeck.....
Supervisor.....	Andrew A. Carter.....	Geo. T. Rowland.....
Fifth Ward.
Alderman.....	John Kolanda.....	Fred Bossert.....
Supervisor.....	Ira Bassett.....	.....
Sixth Ward.
Alderman.....	Fred H. Jackson.....	.....
Supervisor.....	J. Wilbur Cochran.....	.....
Seventh Ward.
Alderman.....	Michael McCarthy.....	.....
Supervisor.....	John Bell, Sr. ....	.....
Eighth Ward.
Alderman.....	George M. Hill.....</td

GRAND RAPIDS TRIBUNE.

DRUM & SUTOR, Publishers.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, Saturday, March 30, 1901.

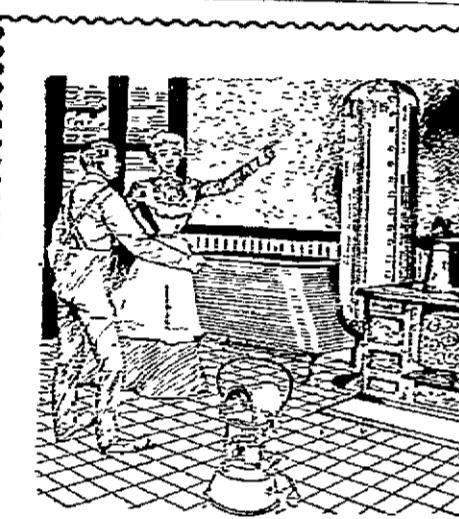

VOL. XXVIII, NO. 47.

An Opportunity
You should not miss.

If you intend to build give us an opportunity to quote you prices. We have an unexcelled stock of Lumber, Lath, Shingles, Doors, Windows, Paper, Lime, Brick and Hair and can make you attractive prices on same.

Kellogg Bros. Lbr. Co.
YARDS AT Grand Rapids, West Grand Rapids, Nekoosa.

Show us
a Job,

And we will show how promptly and well it can be done. Everything in the line of comes within our province. Got the skill and experience necessary to undertake and push to satisfactory completion the most difficult piece of work.

PLUMBING, HEATING AND GAS-FITTING

Our estimates will prove we are not high priced.

Gitchell, Lubeck Co.

"The Pen
is Mightier
The Sword."

We believe it and so does Sampson. What we write is for your interest. Why? your money back of course. Buy from us a

Quick Meal
Gasoline Stove,

a Steel Range, Domestic Sewing Machine, White Mountain Ice Cream Freezer, Challenge Refrigerator, Rome Anti-rust Wash Boiler, Rochester Stamped Ware, Waterville Table or Pocket Cutlery, a Stough-ton Wagon or a Thompson Carriage and you have all your money calls for.

No Better can be found in any Market.

Centralia Hardware Company.

AN IMPORTANT DEAL.

T. E. Nash sells his Water Power interest to Consolidated People.

On Saturday occurred an important deal involving as is generally understood about $55,000, it being the sale to Messrs. Johnson and Witter the water power belonging to T. E. Nash. The sale takes in all of Mr. Nash's reparian rights along the Wisconsin river in this city and is an important matter aside from the amount of money involved.

The sale of this property to Messrs. Johnson and Witter gives these gentlemen complete control of the water power privileges in this city and as they have expressed their intention to improve the property there is now no obstacle in the way of their doing so. Just when operations will commence on the dam that will be put in cannot be stated at this writing but the indications are that it will be in the near future. An engineer has been on the ground during the past week looking over the situation and his work will probably have to be finished before anything definite can be done.

Among other things the company will establish a power house for the purpose of generating electricity for the use of the public in operating motors for machinery of different kinds, fans, pumps etc. This will open up a field for small factories and the like that has never before existed here. There are many establishments that could use from one-fourth to two horsepower to advantage that are now getting along without power, and these places would then be supplied with all power necessary at a very low cost.

Wisconsin Dairy Exhibit.

It is of the greatest importance to the dairy interests of the state that a highly creditable exhibit of our butter and cheese be made at the Pan-American exposition to be held at Buffalo, N. Y., from May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901. This exhibit will be made under the State of Board of Managers, therefore I earnestly request all creamery and cheese-factory proprietors who are well equipped for making a fine class of goods, to make a special offer to exhibit and to communicate with me at once. I will gladly furnish all information relative to the matter.

My address until April 14, 1901, will be Sheboygan Falls, Wis. After that date, in care of F. A. Converse, 735 Elyott Square, Buffalo, N. Y.

H. K. Loomis.
Supt. Wisconsin Dairy Dept., Pan-American Exposition.

Awards Made.

The commissioners of appraisal appointed by Judge Webb to value the lands for the northwestern railway company made their report on Monday. The pieces of property passed on were those to be used by the main line of the road through the town of Grand Rapids. Following is the award for the value of strips of land taken and damage rendered to balance of premises.

Stella M. Paulus	$1750.00
August Kristolski	170.00
Wm. B. Naylor	300.00
John Golla	900.00
Estate of Esther J. Lyon	3402.50
Sarah E. Vaughn	520.00
J. D. Witter	1500.00
Mathias Gatzhowski	450.00
Edward Huban	300.00
Julian Urmanski	150.00
August Glebe	175.00
Total	$7,975.08

The town and village of Auburndale returned no taxes delinquent. Since the above returns considerable of the tax has been paid in to the county treasurer by individuals.

High School Notes.

Owing to a slight misunderstanding in the public program of the Forum which was to take place tonight at the M. E. church was not rendered. Instead the Forum elected officers for the next six weeks and will continue to hold its meetings until about the last of April.

Athletic work has been begun. The boys intend to do some good work this spring and they certainly have good material with which to do it.

Otto Wipperman has given up his studies and is teaching school near town. He intends to enter Annapolis academy next fall.

Miss Beile Quin was absent from school last week on account of sickness. She returned Monday of this week.

The seniors held their regular semi-monthly class meeting last Wednesday. Also the sophomores met.

School closes today for the spring vacation and opens again April 8.

Look Out for This Shark.

George T. Eagle is reported to be a swindler in school supplies. In northern Wisconsin he has taken orders ostensibly for L. A. Murray of Kilbourn, Wis., had the orders cashed at banks and failed to furnish the goods promised. He is also reported to have forged such orders in the name of L. A. Murray, and school boards are warned to look out for him should he appear in this county.—Marshfield News.

A Delightful Yellowstone Park Trip.

A party of select Wisconsin people will make a trip to Yellowstone park in July or August, in charge of Mr. G. E. Culver, professor of geology, Stevens Point Normal school, traveling in a special sleeping and buffet car. Those desiring to join, can obtain complete information as to rates, time of leaving, etc., from J. M. Turner, Special Excursion Agent, Wisconsin Central Ry., Burlington, Wis.

Dr. J. J. Looze Grand Rapids, office over Wood County Drug store, telephone No. 62. Residence telephone No. 246.

Rewarding True Merit.

It has often been said that when a young man possesses true merit in any way it will not only shine on the surface but that eventually it will receive its reward. This was aptly illustrated a few days ago in this city. It seems that a certain farmer who lives a few miles from the city had been doing his trading at a store within the confines of this baliwick and that during the time he was waiting about the store he had been attracted by the pleasing appearance and obliging manner in which the young gentleman who drove the delivery wagon for the firm had been in the habit of performing his duties. Better acquaintance with the young man had not bred contempt as is often the case but had rather made the old man view the young fellow with even more favor. Now the old man had a daughter who had reached the age when the old man thought she had better be looking out for a partner for her sorrows and joys through life, and by gradual degrees it dawned upon the old gentleman that this young deliveryman would make just about the kind of a son-in-law he would like to have in the family. He was a man of deeds as well as of thoughts so one day last week when in town he took the young man off to one side and unfolded his plan, and he not only offered to his daughter, but promised on the day they were married to present him with a cow, a heifer and $100 in cash. Now a cow and a heifer and $100 in cash, and a good healthy, strong-armed country girl are not to be sneezed at and are enough to tempt almost any young man, but it seems that the deliveryman had a previous engagement or else there were other circumstances that compelled him to turn down the old man's proposal, much to the latter's sorrow. 'Tis said that fortune knocks at every man's door once in his lifetime, and maybe in after years this young man may look back and realize that he missed the opportunity of his life.

Delinquent Taxes.

The several town, city and village treasurers finished their returns to the county treasurer on Saturday. Following is the amount returned delinquent:

Grand Rapids, city	$ 247.83
Grand Rapids, town	55.74
Lincoln	41.67
Marsfield, city	804.93
Marsfield, town	29.43
Milladore	109.61
Nekoosa village	5.21
Port Edwards	484.79
Pittsville	185.25
Remington	70.44
Richfield	131.95
Rudolph	49.19
Rock	206.83
Sherry	297.19
Sigel	69.60
Saratoga	271.64
Seneca	663.88
Vesper	241.45
Wood	849.56
Total	$7,975.08

The town and village of Auburndale returned no taxes delinquent. Since the above returns considerable of the tax has been paid in to the county treasurer by individuals.

Water-Lilies Easily Grown.

All that is needed to grow water-lilies is a tub, sunlight from six to eight hours a day, some rich garden soil, and a little water. The easiest way to grow them is from seed, and the prettiest varieties are the African or Zanzibar; they are purple, blue and red. To sow them take a common bowl, and half fill with finely sifted soil packed down level and hard. On the surface scatter the seed evenly and cover with not over a quarter of an inch of fine sand; then very gently fill the bowl with water so as not to disturb nor wash away the sand. Place where the water will be kept at a temperature of about eighty degrees. In two weeks they will be ready for transplanting.—April Ladies' Home Journal.

Black Cat Competition.

The drawing competition at Spafford Cole & Co.'s store came to a close on Monday and there were something over one hundred drawings submitted.

The first prize for the most artistic production was given to Miss Delia Stoddard and consisted of $1 in cash.

The second prize was for the most comic drawing and was won by Miss Leila Steen, one pair of black cat stockings.

The third prize was for the best picture to be used as an advertisement and was won by Floyd Jenkins, one pair of black cat stockings.

The drawings will be bound and put on exhibition at the store in the near future.

Unclaimed Letters.

East Side.

Following is the list of unclaimed letters in the east side postoffice, for the week ending March 27, 1901.

Johnson, Erick School & Office Supply Co.
Geard, Charlie Geesenske, Miss Velvare
Soley, Miss Ella Helmke, Mrs. Albert
Patterson, Mrs. R.

Persons calling for the above please say "advertised."

A. L. FONTAINE, Postmaster.

More Candidates.

Five new candidates for office have appeared during the past week, they being N. H. Robinson for assessor, Orrin Gray for justice of peace, Charles Lubeck for alderman in the fourth ward, Geo. T. Rowland for supervisor in the fourth ward and Fred Bossert for alderman in the fifth ward.

HOME FROM THE WAR.

Grand Rapids Boy Returns after Two Years of Service.

Joseph Peyrusse, who enlisted in the army in August, 1899, and has since been stationed in the Philippines, returned home on Sunday, his regiment having been returned to this country and mustered out of the service.

Joseph enlisted in August, 1899, and was a private in Company G, 36th U. S. Volunteers, having been sent to Manila immediately after enlisting. He was only seventeen years of age at the time of his enlistment and he states that the time he has spent in the volunteer army has about satisfied his desire for soldiering.

During most of the time Mr. Peyrusse was stationed about 30 miles north of Manila near Vigan. He was in fifteen engagements and in one was wounded twice, being shot through the right shoulder and left hip with muser balls. This occurred on Oct. 17, 1899, or only shortly after he arrived on the island.

It is his opinion that the natives are not much nearer whipped than they were two years ago and that twenty years hence they will still be scrapping and that if they are eventually subdued it will require a large standing army to keep them in subjection.

He also states that the "water cure," the account of which so greatly shocked some of our humanitarians along about election time, was not fiction by any means, but that it was practiced right along in order to make captured natives tell what they know concerning the movements of the enemy. In this the victim has a piece of wood inserted in his mouth to keep his jaws distended and while he is held on the ground water is poured into his face in liberal quantities. Another common way is to tie a rope about the prisoner's neck and by passing the rope over a convenient branch haul him up until the tension becomes unbearable and he signifies a desire to "cough up" any information he may have. These punishments were common and Joseph says he has seen both of them practiced many a time. George Whitman, another Grand Rapids volunteer, is in the 34th regiment and is still on the island.

Looking for Trouble.

John Smith of Waterloo was brought before the justice of the peace on Tuesday and paid a fine of $5 for being drunk and disorderly the day before. John and two comrades came down on the noon train the day before being on their way south. Before reaching this city the three had some trouble on the train which resulted in a scrap and John was badly scratched up and his clothes were covered with blood. When he got off the train here he entered the ticket office at the St. Paul depot and becoming noisy was ejected. This seemed to incense him and when he attempted to enter again and found the door locked he kicked in a panel and otherwise injured the door. He was subsequently captured by officer Gibson and after a night in the lockup he had sobered up and saw things in their proper light. He paid for the damaged door and continued on his way toward home.

To Erect New Mill.

The Grand Rapids Milling company will in the near future commence the erection of a new mill building to take the place of the old structure now being used. The new establishment will be modern in all its equipments and have a capacity of about 200 barrels daily.

The new mill building will be situated near the electric light power house on lots 4 and 5, block 4, and when completed the plant will be operated by electricity. The new company has a capital stock of $20,000 and the officers are J. D. Witter, president. John P. Horton, secretary and treasurer. The management of affairs will be under Mr. Horton as heretofore.

Old Settlers' Meeting.

The following program has been prepared for the old settlers' meeting, which will be held in this city on Thursday evening, April 11, at the opera house:

President's Address . . . . . Monarch Orchestra
Address . . . . . R. E. McFarland
Instrumental Selection . . . . . Leo W. Brazeau
Toast . . . . . Mrs. G. E. Witter
Song . . . . . J. W. Cochran
Song . . . . . Miss Laura Reeves
Song . . . . . Mrs. J. D. Witter
Paper-Subject, First Chapter of the Mystery of the City of Greater Grand Rapids . . . . . Joseph E. Foye
Instrumental Selection . . . . . Mrs. I. P. Witter
Toast . . . . . Mrs. O. Denis
Music . . . . . Monarch Orchestra

This program is subject to change.

Lunach will be served at the 20th Century place and a cordial invitation is extended to all old settlers to be present at the doings.

Got $1,750.

Hans Carlson, through his attorney, D. D. Conway, has effected a settlement with the Fenwood Lumber Co. for $1,750. Mr. Carlson had twice got judgments in court against the company but these judgments were set aside on account of technical errors. Mr. Carlson was badly injured while working for the company and the money will prove of great benefit.

Notice.

To the electors of Wood County: I will be a candidate for County Judge at the coming election. I represent no political party. If elected, I will endeavor to do justice by all, and to treat with courtesy and consideration those who have business before the county court. This is my platform.

JOHN A. GAYNOR.

The Lenten Season

Is now at hand. For a full line of

FRESH and SALT FISH

—Call on—

W. GROSS, West Side Grocer.

On Easter Sunday

You will want to be well dressed. Now the idea is no matter how handsome a bonnet or dress you have on, if you have an old pair of shoes you are not well dressed. I am now

GRAND RAPIDS TRIBUNE

GRAND RAPIDS, WIS.

DRUM & SUTOR, - Publishers.

ANNOYED F. S. BOND.

Woman Claims to be the Common-law Wife of Vice-President of Milwaukee Road.

New York, March 26.—Mrs. Mary Louise Bond, an elegant dressed, gray-haired woman, was arraigned before Magistrate Brann in the Yorkville police court yesterday afternoon, charged with disorderly conduct.

The woman was arrested by Policeman Werthauer at the instance of Bernard Smith, the butler in the employ of Frank S. Bond, vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, who resides at 38 West Fifty-Seventh street.

Smith stated that the woman entered the hallway of the house and refused to leave. He told the judge he did not know the woman and had never seen her in his house.

"Don't you know me?" said the woman. "I've been there many times, and I say, you do know me. I want to say, Judge," turning to Magistrate Brann, "that Frank S. Bond, vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company, is my common-law husband. He is living in luxury and I am destitute."

In Arrears for Rent.

The woman told Magistrate Brann that she had sustained the relations she had mentioned with Bond for sixteen years. She lived at 249 West One Hundred and Fourteenth street. Bond, she said, paid all of her expenses. Finally she got in arrears for rent and wrote to Bond. She received no answer, and was dispossessed. A truckload of furniture was taken from her flat and driven in front of Bond's house, at 38 West Fifty-first street.

Finally Senator John Gilmore Borg, counsel for the woman, appeared before court and had a conference with her. Senator Borg told Magistrate Brann that this claim was destitute. He declared that she was the common-law wife of Bond, and that there was pending in the Supreme court a suit begun by him against Bond for damages for breach of promise. This suit was begun two years ago. He declared that up to the time of the bringing of the suit Bond had called at the residence of his client but had now abandoned her.

Mr. Kneavel, attorney for Mr. Bond, declared that there was no relation whatever between the woman and Mr. Bond.

"We have an affidavit in our office," said Mr. Kneavel, "in which this woman specifically states that she is not the wife of Bond. I am sorry that this matter has been brought out. I have endeavored to keep it from becoming public for some time, but we cannot permit this woman to go to the house of Mr. Bond and continually annoy him. She is sometimes known as Wahl and sometimes as Morse."

Signed a Paper.

The woman explained that over two years ago she was asked to sign a blank piece of paper. She did this, she said. She said there was no writing above it. She was assured at the time she signed the paper that she had not relinquished any of her rights. She said that two years ago she was given $2000 by Bond and that she had been living on that money ever since. Now it was all gone and she had no money left.

"I bought the furniture," said Mrs. Bond, "which is standing in front of his house. I have returned the furniture to him. He has deserted me and I do not want his furniture."

Magistrate Brann, after further hearing, warned the woman not to annoy Mr. Bond and discharged her.

When asked about the matter Mr. Bond said: "I have just arrived at my home, where I learned about the affair. I think the least said about it the better. A woman came here, attempted to get into the house, and her arrival was caused by my son, I knew who she was. She was taken to court, after she said that she was having some things sent here. The things came. They were two wagons full of furniture. At court, I am told, the magistrate told her to take her furniture away and to cease troubling me, or he would put her under bonds. That is all I have to say."

WOMAN CLAIMS BIG ESTATE.

Suit Against Columbus, O., Banker's Executors Causes Sensation.

Columbus, O., March 26.—A hidden chapter in the life of the late Carew B. Paul, the millionaire banker and capitalist, was disclosed when Mrs. Mary Fleming, a handsome widow, of Indianapolis, came to the city and placed her claim to a portion of the big estate in the hands of local attorneys. Her claim against the estate, she says, arises from business transactions in which she was interested with Mr. Paul. She says she intrusted her fortune to him, amounting to more than $50,000. She also claims to hold notes amounting to $7000, which remain unpaid, owing to the sudden death of Mr. Paul.

Mrs. Fleming, it is stated, was engaged to marry Paul, but the engagement was broken just prior to his marriage to the present Mrs. Paul. Then Paul, it is alleged, adjusted the widow's claim by making a financial settlement. It is said, Paul's devotion to Mrs. Fleming was the cause of much discord in his family. Mrs. Paul will fight Mrs. Fleming's claim.

MURDERER'S CURSE TRUE.

Holmes' Invective on Enemies Coincides with Disease of Detective.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 26.—A few moments before Major General H. H. Holmes went to his doom on the gallows in Moravians prison some little time since, he intoned a curse upon those who had brought him to justice. It was a horrid invective and the first to fall under his fearsome bar, is Detective Frank P. Geyer, the man whose efforts were sorely responsible for Holmes' undoing, and now the curse of Holmes is recalled. Geyer lies in the grip of a disease the progress of which is causing extreme physical suffering. While enduring these physical tortures Geyer's mind is being preyed on by his own thoughts and in his peregrinations he continually raves. "It is Holmes' curse, Holmes' curse."

Geyer is one of the most successful police officers on the Philadelphia force and has been in the service since the centennial in 1876.

Descendants of Chinese.

The ancestors of the civilized natives of Formosa are immigrants from China, who brought with them the customs of paying respects and reverence to ideographs. These customs can only be read by persons trained in writing, and the Chinese name of "sacred remains" is a name given to some superstitions. Japanese people venerate the cards symbolizing deities which are called "ofuda."

The geographical divisions of the United States are the North Atlantic group, the South Atlantic group, the North central group, the South central group and the Western group.

BRITAIN'S OBJECTIONS.

Reasons Given for Rejecting the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty.

ANSWER OF ENGLAND.

Wants Canal to Remain Neutral, as Provided in Clayton-Bulwer Convention.

Washington, D. C., March 26.—The answer of the British government expressing its inability to accept the Hay-Pauncefote treaty as amended by the United States Senate begins by showing there was no desire on the part of the British government to change the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, and then says: "President McKinley, through Secretary Hay, agreed in December, 1893, to abide by this treaty." Lord Lansdowne goes on:

"In view of the strong national feeling in favor of the construction of a Nicaragua canal, the United States government were prepared to undertake it themselves, or to obtain the necessary powers from Congress. For this purpose, Secretary Hay, in friendly negotiations to obtain the consent of Great Britain to such a modification of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty as would affect the 'general principle' therein declared, would make a great effort in view to accomplish for the benefit of the commerce of the world."

First Hitch Due to Alaska Line.

The rest of the discussions was the treaty which Mr. Hay handed to Lord Lansdowne in January, 1893. Serious difficulties had arisen in seeking to arrange affairs then pending before the joint high commission, and Lord Salisbury declared when he was asked to be a link included when the convention for amending the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, as the opinion of the country would hardly support them in making a concession which would be wholly to the benefit of the United States, and the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., March 1, 1901.—The following telegraphic instructions were handed to the minister on February 10, 1893, is transcribed to you for your information and communication to the government to which you are accredited:

"The preservation of the territorial integrity of China having been recognized by law, it would be necessary to take into account the stipulations in the Treaty of Tientsin of 1858, which provided that the United States government of this sort of secret treaty, it was deemed proper to give out for publication the following telegraphic instructions sent to the representatives of the United States in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London, Rome, Tokyo and St. Petersburg:

THE JEWELLED TALISMAN OR PURITAN AND CAVALIER BY MRS. CAROLINE ORNE

CHAPTER XV.—(Continued)
He walked so rapidly that she had some difficulty in keeping up with him, the more as he frequently turned from one street into another. They had gone a much greater distance than she imagined it would be, when he stopped abruptly in front of a somewhat spacious building. It did not in the least resemble what she had pictured to herself as the dwelling of a Puritan lady, yet, though she had some misgivings, she remained silent.

"This is the house," said her conductor; and ascending the steps, he rapped at the door.

It was speedily opened by a man whose dress accorded as little with the style of that worn by the Puritans, as the slowly appearance of the building and the gaudily furnished apartment seen through an open door, were in unison with their daily habits.

"Is it you, Corkle?" said the man. "I didn't expect."

Here his words were cut short by a significant look from him to whom they were addressed.

"I called," said Corkle, "to inquire if the widow Elliston is at home. Go and tell some one to let her know that somebody is here who wishes to see her very particularly."

The man vanished, and Corkle turned to Aseneth.

"Come in and rest yourself," said he, "till the lady is ready to see you."

He entered an adjoining apartment, and she neither saw him nor any other person, though she could hear voices for a number of minutes. He made his appearance.

"I've seen the lady's waiting maid," said he, "and her mistress sends word that she shall not leave her room under an hour from now, and requests you to send her the letter you are the bearer of."

"Can I see the lady's maid?" she asked.

"Certainly," and opening a door through which was seen a staircase, he called, "Cicely—Cicely!"

A girl came down stairs and stood in the doorway.

"Hand the billet to her, and she will give it to her mistress."

The Jewess rose, advanced a few steps, and then stopped irresolute. Everything appeared so different from what she had supposed that her mind misgave her.

"Perhaps," said Corkle, "you would prefer to wait an hour or two, till the lady leaves her room; although," added he, "she is so unwell I shouldn't wonder if she didn't leave it for the day."

"I don't think she will be able to," said Cicely. "I will give her the letter, which, I suppose, will be the same as if you gave it to her yourself."

"Take it," said Aseneth, handing it to her, "and may you find a serpent's sting in it, if you have possessed yourself of it wrongfully."

It was already late in the morning, and with this thought, interwoven with a vague apprehension of impending evil, she left the house, with the arduous task before her of finding her way back, through what appeared to her the perfect maze of streets and dark alleys, where, guided by Corkle, she had recently passed.

Now and then she looked wistfully round on every side for such landmarks as she had the foresight to set down in her mind while following her perfidious conductor, but she could see nothing which looked familiar. She avoided inquiring the way, for she shrank from again encountering scolds and jeers. Now, however, fearing that instead of approaching, she was wandering further from home, she concluded to seek the desired information of the first person whose appearance pleased her.

Not long after she came to this conclusion she saw a young man coming towards her, whose air and dress showed that his rank was that of a gentleman.

She felt certain that he was one of those whose goodness of heart and true nobility made him above treating with contumely even one of her despised race.

"Can you?" said she, "tell me the way to the shop of Jeduthun, the Jew?"

"You are so great a distance from it," he replied, "that it will be difficult to direct you."

Her heart sank within her when he told her this, for she was faint and weary.

"What can I do?" said she.

"You won't be afraid to trust me for a guide?"

She looked at him as if she doubted whether she heard him aright.

"Will you permit me to guide you?" said he, noticing her look of bewilderment.

"You surely cannot mean to show me the way yourself?"

"Why not?"

"It would be stooping too low."

"Not a whit. I had it in my mind, before I met you, to call at the Jew's shop you mentioned, and, perhaps, some of those belonging to others who live near by, between this and night. I may as well go now as later in the day. Keep near by, or you may lose sight of me."

At last, when they entered the street where she lived, though lined on either side with buildings that were old and unsightly, she could scarcely suppress a cry of joy. Her conductor almost wondered at the delight depicted in her countenance on reaching a place where all around wore an air of so much wretchedness and gloom. When they reached the door of the shop, Aseneth stood without till her conductor had entered.

"I was afraid that some evil had befallen you," said the Jew, as, on raising his eyes, he saw her standing near the threshold.

"That there has not, thanks are due to this stranger," she replied. And passing through the shop, she opened a door and entered an adjoining apartment.

"I have called," said the young man, the sounds were heard no more. Nothing of all this had reached the secluded apartment, where the Jew and Alice sat listening to Abi, who was playing on the harp a few low, sweet strains. When, therefore, the massive door was suddenly swung back, and Mizar burst into the room, pale and trembling, their first thought was that Falkland had discovered the retreat of Alice, and expected that the ruffians in his employ were prancing closely on the boy's footsteps.

"O, my master," exclaimed Mizar, "come quickly and see what has happened."

"They haven't come for her, then?" said Abi, pointing to Alice.

"No," replied Mizar; "but I'm afraid that the gentleman is murdered."

"What gentleman?" inquired Abi. But Mizar did not hear her question, for as she spoke, he closed the door, and followed his master to the shop.

They now listened at the door, and finding that all without was silent, the Jew cautiously opened it. A thick, heavy mist was falling, and the eye could not penetrate the gloom.

"Bring a light, Mizar," said the Jew, "that we may see if any one dead or wounded is lying near."

Seeing that the boy hesitated, Aseneth took up a lamp and stepping out at the door, held it in such a manner as to render visible whatever object might chance to be near. The insinuating mist had rendered the ground soft and yielding, and footprints of different sizes, grouped together in a confused, irregular manner, were the only vestige of what might have been a mortal struggle.

As she was about to enter, she thought she heard voices at no great distance. Listening, she found that they were rapidly drawing nearer. In her haste to enter, her feet slipped, and she fell across the threshold. By the time she had risen those she had heard coming were close at hand. She had entered and succeeded in closing the door, when it was forcibly thrust open and three men rushed into the room. One of them Aseneth at once recognized as her treacherous guide.

"Ah, my delicate illy-face, you have found your way home," said he, addressing her. "The young Puritan, I suspect, hasn't been here yet to let the bird out of the cage. If not, we will save him the trouble."

"If," said the Jew, "as I judge by your words, you are he who conducted my servant to a different place from where she wished to go, I advise you to be content with the mischief you have done, and not to seek further to annoy her or others."

"I would willingly grant your request were it in my power; but only a few minutes before you came, it was discovered that the setting had sustained some injury, and it was sent to one of our people to be repaired. When it is returned, you can see it."

"When will that be?"

"Some time during the day. At what hour, I am unable to tell."

"Then I will defer coming till evening." He turned to go, when the Jew again addressed him.

"Pardon me," said he, "but I would fain know the name of one who disdained not, if I rightly understood the meaning of your words, to screen her, my faithful servant, from the rudeness of those who seem to forget that our despised people are within the pale of humanity."

"My name is Clarence Harleigh."

"One that I shan't forget. Favours sink deep into the hearts of those who are little used to them."

"Showing your servant the way thicker, as I wished to come myself, scarcely deserves the name of a favor," replied Harleigh, as he turned to leave.

As the day wore away, Alice began to think it was somewhat singular that she heard nothing from Mrs. Elliston. Aseneth, meanwhile, was ill at ease. When the joy of finding herself safe at home had time to subside, the misgivings she had felt as to whether the note she had been entrusted with had fallen into the right hands, revived with redoubled force. The hours slipped away, till night set in. Alice, by this time, began to be so seriously uneasy that when Aseneth entered, bearing their evening meal, Abi inquired if she gave the billet into Mrs. Elliston's own hand.

"I did not," she replied; and she then gave a true account of all that happened to her, and expressed her fears that she had been deceived by the man who with so much apparent kindness offered to conduct her to the place where she desired to go.

"There can be no doubt that he deceived you," said Alice, "as is shown by the description you give of the house and the people you saw there."

Her anxiety was now excited on a different account. The contents of the note addressed to Mrs. Elliston showed where she had found refuge, and if, as she feared, it had fallen into the hands of one of the men who had been employed by Falkland, it would be likely to bring trouble and danger to those who had so kindly befriended her, as well as to herself.

CHAPTER XVI.

After supper, the Jew returned to the shop, where his boy, Mizar, had remained during his absence. When he recalled to mind that Clarence Harleigh had promised to call in the course of the evening to look at the opal, he remembered that it had not yet been returned. He therefore sent Mizar to procure it.

It was 8 o'clock when the boy returned with it, yet Harleigh had not made his appearance. The Jew was impatient at his delay, for he had concluded in his own mind that he would make a confidant of him relative to what had befallen Alice the preceding evening, and that there was reason to fear a note that she had sent early in the morning to her friends had fallen into unfriendly hands and would prove the means of betraying to Falkland her place of refuge.

The minutes, one after the other, crept slowly away, without bringing him the Jew's most desired to see. Another half hour had passed, and it was 9 o'clock, the time he was accustomed to pass an hour with Abi, who ventured to play the harp and sing to him some of those stirring and sublime songs recorded in the Old Testament. Now, after halting and barring the door, he remained a few minutes, hoping that Harleigh might yet return.

"Mizar," said the Jew, "remain here half an hour longer. If any one knock at the door, inquire who is there. If the answer should be Clarence Harleigh, admit him, and then call me."

"And if it should be the gentleman by that name?"

"Let the door remain fastened, and call me."

Only a few minutes after he was gone some one knocked at the door. Mizar rose and went towards it to inquire who was there. Before he had time to do so, the knock was repeated louder than at first, and was immediately succeeded by a violent struggle. Soon came a wild and piercing cry. Then there was a sound of voices, low though earnest, and at the same time a dull noise, such as might be made by dragging a heavy weight. The boy stood almost stupefied with terror, till the sounds were heard no more.

Nothing of all this had reached the secluded apartment, where the Jew and Alice sat listening to Abi, who was playing on the harp a few low, sweet strains.

When, therefore, the massive door was suddenly swung back, and Mizar burst into the room, pale and trembling, their first thought was that Falkland had discovered the retreat of Alice, and expected that the ruffians in his employ were prancing closely on the boy's footsteps.

"O, my master," exclaimed Mizar, "come quickly and see what has happened."

"They haven't come for her, then?" said Abi, pointing to Alice.

"No," replied Mizar; "but I'm afraid that the gentleman is murdered."

"What gentleman?" inquired Abi. But Mizar did not hear her question, for as she spoke, he closed the door, and followed his master to the shop.

They now listened at the door, and finding that all without was silent, the Jew cautiously opened it. A thick, heavy mist was falling, and the eye could not penetrate the gloom.

"Bring a light, Mizar," said the Jew, "that we may see if any one dead or wounded is lying near."

Seeing that the boy hesitated, Aseneth took up a lamp and stepping out at the door, held it in such a manner as to render visible whatever object might chance to be near. The insinuating mist had rendered the ground soft and yielding, and footprints of different sizes, grouped together in a confused, irregular manner, were the only vestige of what might have been a mortal struggle.

As she was about to enter, she thought she heard voices at no great distance. Listening, she found that they were rapidly drawing nearer. In her haste to enter, her feet slipped, and she fell across the threshold. By the time she had risen those she had heard coming were close at hand. She had entered and succeeded in closing the door, when it was forcibly thrust open and three men rushed into the room. One of them Aseneth at once recognized as her treacherous guide.

"Ah, my delicate illy-face, you have found your way home," said he, addressing her. "The young Puritan, I suspect, hasn't been here yet to let the bird out of the cage. If not, we will save him the trouble."

"If," said the Jew, "as I judge by your words, you are he who conducted my servant to a different place from where she wished to go, I advise you to be content with the mischief you have done, and not to seek further to annoy her or others."

"I would willingly grant your request were it in my power; but only a few minutes before you came, it was discovered that the setting had sustained some injury, and it was sent to one of our people to be repaired. When it is returned, you can see it."

"When will that be?"

"Some time during the day. At what hour, I am unable to tell."

"Then I will defer coming till evening." He turned to go, when the Jew again addressed him.

"Pardon me," said he, "but I would fain know the name of one who disdained not, if I rightly understood the meaning of your words, to screen her, my faithful servant, from the rudeness of those who seem to forget that our despised people are within the pale of humanity."

"My name is Clarence Harleigh."

"One that I shan't forget. Favours sink deep into the hearts of those who are little used to them."

"Showing your servant the way thicker, as I wished to come myself, scarcely deserves the name of a favor," replied Harleigh, as he turned to leave.

As the day wore away, Alice began to think it was somewhat singular that she heard nothing from Mrs. Elliston. Aseneth, meanwhile, was ill at ease. When the joy of finding herself safe at home had time to subside, the misgivings she had felt as to whether the note she had been entrusted with had fallen into the right hands, revived with redoubled force. The hours slipped away, till night set in. Alice, by this time, began to be so seriously uneasy that when Aseneth entered, bearing their evening meal, Abi inquired if she gave the billet into Mrs. Elliston's own hand.

"I did not," she replied; and she then gave a true account of all that happened to her, and expressed her fears that she had been deceived by the man who with so much apparent kindness offered to conduct her to the place where she desired to go.

"There can be no doubt that he deceived you," said Alice, "as is shown by the description you give of the house and the people you saw there."

Her anxiety was now excited on a different account. The contents of the note addressed to Mrs. Elliston showed where she had found refuge, and if, as she feared, it had fallen into the hands of one of the men who had been employed by Falkland, it would be likely to bring trouble and danger to those who had so kindly befriended her, as well as to herself.

"What can I do?" said she.

"You won't be afraid to trust me for a guide?"

She looked at him as if she doubted whether she heard him aright.

"Will you permit me to guide you?" said he, noticing her look of bewilderment.

"You surely cannot mean to show me the way yourself?"

"Why not?"

"It would be stooping too low."

"Not a whit. I had it in my mind, before I met you, to call at the Jew's shop you mentioned, and, perhaps, some of those belonging to others who live near by, between this and night. I may as well go now as later in the day. Keep near by, or you may lose sight of me."

At last, when they entered the street where she lived, though lined on either side with buildings that were old and unsightly, she could scarcely suppress a cry of joy. Her conductor almost wondered at the delight depicted in her countenance on reaching a place where all around wore an air of so much wretchedness and gloom. When they reached the door of the shop, Aseneth stood without till her conductor had entered.

"I was afraid that some evil had befallen you," said the Jew, as, on raising his eyes, he saw her standing near the threshold.

"That there has not, thanks are due to this stranger," she replied. And passing through the shop, she opened a door and entered an adjoining apartment.

"I have called," said the young man,

MUCH HAVOC IS WROUGHT

Wind and Rain Storm Passes Over Birmingham, Ala.

MANY LIVES ARE LOST.

Business Portion of Irondale was Destroyed and Seven Men Are Reported Killed.

Birmingham, Ala., March 25.—In a tornado which today swept over Jones Valley, in

Grand Rapids Tribune

BY DRUMB & SUTOR.

Entered at the Post Office at Grand Rapids, Wis., as second-class mail matter.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One Year.....$1.50
Six Months.....75

Grand Rapids, Wis., March 30, 1901

The County Judgeship.

Next week the people of the county will be called upon to elect a new county judge. There are two candidates in the field, John A. Gaynor and Wm. J. Conway, both good, honest, capable men, either of whom the people can bank on to do his duty, and the Tribune favors the election of Mr. Conway.

Mr. Conway is a bright young attorney who has lived his life in Grand Rapids, has grown from boyhood to manhood and taken up the burden of life right among the people who are now called on to vote for him, and we have yet to hear one who had a word to say against him, either morally or intellectually.

There is just one thing that Mr. Conway's opponents have brought up against him and that is that he may be a trifle young for the office. They do not come out and say that he is too young, but that he may be a trifle young. They know that this is no argument, for when a man has reached the age of 27 years, as Mr. Conway has, it can hardly be claimed that he is so overwhelmingly young. If a man has not acquired the necessary stamina at 27 to be a county judge, the chances are that he never will acquire it. There is a great difference in characters and while some men are young and frivolous at 27, others acquire the age of decrepitude long before this time and to the latter class Mr. Conway belongs. A student by nature, he has put in many hours acquiring facts and learning while his contemporaries were passing theirs at less profitable occupations, so at the present time he is a man whom the people need not be afraid to trust with the affairs of the county judge's office. Mr. Conway's contemporaries on the county board have found him a man who, when he starts a matter of business, carries it through to the finish in proper business style, and it is safe to assert that these men will not hesitate to support him.

Yes, there is one other matter that Mr. Conway's opponents bring up. That is, that they fear he is making a mistake and that his election might unfit him for active business later on. If one term would have such an effect as this, just try to imagine how overwhelmingly disastrous two terms would be to a man.

Anyway, Mr. Conway's opponents should let him do the worrying as to his future, as they have troubles of their own to worry about. In conclusion we wish to say that we do not consider Mr. Conway has made a mistake in running for the office, nor do we consider that any man will make a mistake in voting for him.

In Memoriam.

The following lines were written in memory of Christina Rick, who died a few weeks ago at the home of her father.

Our Absent Friends.

God in his glory needed one more star,
To shine in his celestial band;
So he sent his messenger from afar
To take a loved one to a better land.

His choice fell on a lonely maiden,
Who knew no mother's love;
And though with riches heavily laden
She was called to dwell above.

She is now a shining star forever
Whom the angels have blessed Lord;
Whom the angels have blessed Lord;
Whose mother's heart was pierced with a sword.

Her father, bereft of his loving child
Is left with a sorrowful heart;
Alone on the ocean bleak and wild
To toil and pray and do his part.

Her friends, a sorrowing band
Mourn the loss of their dearest one
Their ministering angel, whose kind hand
Was extended to many a need.

She won, with her bright and winsome ways
The hearts of her teachers one and all;
And they miss their pupil of former days,
Who in youth answered God's sooths call.

On yonder hill, now snow white Lies her own dear mother asleep,
And by her mother's side.
Christina was laid, to rest in peace.

She is free from pain and suffering now,
Healed by God's almighty power;
But she remembers us all, with love, I know
And she'll pray for us all, in the darkest hour.

She clung to the right in youth's short years,
Left us to go from us, from all in pain.
We remember her with pride and tears;
We think of her often and we cherish her name.

M. C.

Episcopal Services.

Services at St. John's church during holy week.

Palm Sunday.

7:30 and 10:30 a. m. Celebrations of the Eucharist.

5:00 p. m. Vespers.

Wednesday.

7:30 a. m. Celebration of the Eucharist.

10:30 a. m. Morning prayer, Litany and Penitential service.

5:00 Evening prayer.

Maundy Thursday.

7:30 Celebration of the Eucharist.

Good Friday.

10:00 Morning prayer, Litany and Penitential service.

12 to 3 p. m. Service commemorating the three hours Agony of Our Redeemer on the Cross.

5:00 Evening prayer.

Saturday.

7:30 a. m. Celebration of Eucharist.

10:00 a. m. Morning prayer.

5:00 p. m. Evening prayer.

Strikes a Rich Find.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only Soc. Satisfaction guaranteed by Johnson Hill & Co. and John E. Daly.

The Editor and the Preacher.

The press and the pulpit have more charity than all the balance of the community and the fact is aptly illustrated by an exchange as follows: A preacher once said: "Editors dare not tell the truth. If you did you could not live. Your newspaper would be a failure." The editor replied: "You are right, and the minister who will at all times tell the truth about his members, alive or dead, will not occupy the pulpit more than one Sunday, and he will find it necessary to leave town in a hurry. The press and the pulpit go hand in hand with whitewash and kind words, magnifying little virtues into big ones. The pulpit and the press are a saint making partnership."

Address for illustrated circular, etc., Sanitarium City Electrical Co., Battle Creek, Michigan.

A Horrible Outbreak.

"Of large sores on my little daughter's head developed into a case of scald head," writes C. D. Isbill of Morganton, Tenn., but Bucklin's Arnica Salve completely cured her. It's a guaranteed cure for Eczema, Tetter, Sault Rheum, Pimples, Sores, Ulcers and Piles. Only 50 cents at Johnson Hill & Co. and John E. Daly.

—Dr. D. Waters, physician and surgeon. Office over Church's drug store, telephone 182. Night calls at Dixon House, telephone 55. .

SCHOOL TREASURER'S REPORT.

Annual Report of the School Treasurer of Grand Rapids School District for year Ending March 25, 1901.

RECEIPTS.

	Dr.	Cr.
Balance on hand, east side	$ 3,880.76
Balance on hand, west side	2,669.78
Apr. 2, interest	5.70
Apr. 2, tuition	6.62
May 9, interest	6.06
June 5, interest	2.41
" 22, tuition	27.57
Aug. 2, interest	2.09
Sept. 29, interest	5.20
Oct. 5, interest: September	4.89
		1901
Feb. 4, State H. S. fund, west side	451.49
Feb. 11, State H. S. Fund, east side	451.49
Feb. 15, city treasurer	10,493.59
Feb. 16, city treasurer, fall tuition	6,500.69
" 16, city Supt., winter tuition	150.75
Mar. 21, county school fund	1,767.61
" 21, state school fund	1,549.61
		DISBURSEMENTS.
Mar. 25, teachers' salaries	$12,516.82
Janitors' wages	1,561.03
Kindergarten piano	225.88
Kindergarten and primary supplies	125.17
Incidentals	278.24
Rent	88.50
Freight and binding	64.54
Printing and paper	1,141.06
Wood and coal	1,092.48
School furniture and supplies	108.65
Postage and interest	945.69
Interest on over drafts	91.40
Balance	$6,638.85
		$28,276.95
		$28,276.95

Submitted for Mr. Garrison, treasurer. GEO. P. HAMPRECHT.

Grand Rapids, March 26, 1901.

The committee to whom was referred the above report of the school treasurer herewith report that they have checked up the orders with the stubs and found the same to agree and have cancelled the said stubs. All accounts have been carefully footed and found correct as per treasurer's report.

A. E. CRAWFORD,
H. H. VOSS,
C. F. KELLOGG, Committee.

Notice of Special Election.

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in the city of Grand Rapids, in the county of Wood and State of Wisconsin, on 12th day of April, A. D. 1901, for the purpose of voting on the question of the ratification of a certain ordinance passed by the common council of said city, on the 20th day March, A. D. 1901, at a regular meeting thereof. Of which the following is a true copy:

An ordinance providing for a special election to issue bonds for water-works.

The common council of the city of Grand Rapids, do ordain as follows:

Section 1. In the name of the city of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, does hereby declare its purpose to raise the sum of sixty thousand ($60,000.00) dollars by issuing the bonds of said city; for the purpose of purchasing an outstanding interest in a water system of waterworks of said city, extending the same to the construction of an addition thereto; bonds shall be of the denomination of five hundred ($500.00) each and numbered consecutively from 1 to 120 both inclusive and shall bear interest at the rate of four per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the 1st of July and January in each year; said bonds shall be payable in installments as follows:

Section 2. And the city clerk of said city of Grand Rapids, do further ordain as follows: to call a special election for the purpose of submitting the question of bonding said city of Grand Rapids for the purposes herein mentioned to the electors thereof, as provided by the statutes of this state, to be held on the 12th day of April, A. D. 1901.

Section 3. This ordinance shall be in force and effect from and after its passage and publication and ratification by a majority of the electors of said city of Grand Rapids voting thereon at a special election called for that purpose.

Approved March 26th, 1901.

Attest: B. R. GOGGINS.

MILTON W. MOSHER.

Clerk.

Published March 21, 1901.

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

Grand Rapids Tribune

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Cora Pratt is visiting friends at Pittsville.

Arthur Sickles took in the sights at Wausau on Sunday.

Miss Nan White of Pittsville visited friends here on Monday.

Rev. L. Kroll spent Thursday at Oneida visiting with friends.

Frank Boles of Nekoosa was in the city on business on Saturday.

A. F. Mercer of Marshfield transacted business here on Tuesday.

Wm. Dowling of Dexterville was in the city on business on Thursday.

E. S. Bailey of Vesper was in the city for a short time on Saturday.

Attorney E. C. Pors of Marshfield transacted business here Thursday.

Edward Lynch spent the fore part of the week at Montello on business.

Otto Roenius and G. F. Krieger returned from Chicago on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Harmon returned on Sunday from their trip to Chicago.

Miss May Emmons entertained a few friends at her home on Wednesday.

E. M. Cops of Stevens Point looked after his interests in the city on Monday.

Conductor John Anderson of Marshfield spent Sunday with friends in this city.

Miss Anna Heidler of Marshfield is the guest of Miss Anna Oberbeck this week.

District attorney H. C. Wipperman transacted business in Milwaukee on Monday.

Sam Grover of Wausau was in the city on Tuesday and Wednesday on business.

Alex Muir was in Marshfield on business on Friday and Saturday of last week.

J. L. Morse of Lancaster was the guest of his son Robert in the city this week.

Miss Hazel Taylor left for Independence on Saturday to visit relatives for a time.

W. W. Mead has been at Nekoosa the past week doing some work on the paper mill.

Judge John A. Gaynor transacted business in Marshfield the latter part of last week.

A. Abrams, one of Nekoosa's solid farmers, transacted business here on Wednesday.

J. W. Cochran was in Marshfield on Thursday and Friday of last week on legal business.

N. H. Robinson will be an independent candidate for assessor at the spring election.

Seth Spafford is home from Wausau, having finished his course in the business college.

George Brown and F. S. Woodworth of Pittsville were in the city on business on Monday.

Lee Love came down from Merrill on Monday to visit friends and relatives in this city.

Bishop Weiler addressed a large congregation at the Episcopal church on Friday evening.

Mrs. Esch of Sparta was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fournier several days this week.

Peter McCamley was in Oshkosh during the past week in attendance at the bedside of his sister.

Floyd Moore and Will Granger attended the concert and dance at Nekoosa Wednesday night.

Miss Laura Schmitt arrived in the city this week and will open her millinery store in the near future.

Mrs. R. M. Beeston left on Wednesday for Kaukauna where she was called by the illness of a sister.

Hubert Colcord who has been on the road with a show arrived home Thursday for a short visit with his father.

Elmer Moberg returned on Thursday night from Tomahawk where he has been in the woods the past winter.

Mrs. L. H. Brooks of Tomahawk, who had been visiting friends in this city, returned to her home on Wednesday.

Geo. Fisher of the east side departed on Thursday night for Milwaukee where he intends to join the regular army.

Carl Bandelin, who is playing with Dana's 3rd Regiment band at Marionette, is home for a week's visit with his mother.

Miss Viola Garrison returned on Saturday from Milwaukee on account of sickness. She was attending Downer college.

Dr. and Mrs. S. A. McGregor of Nekoosa were guests of Dr. D. Waters on Tuesday, returning to their home that evening.

Mrs. M. J. Kinney, of Sioux City, Iowa, has been visiting friends in the city during the past week. She left for her home yesterday.

Omar Stout expects to leave for his old home in West Virginia in the near future, where he has accepted a more lucrative position.

Harry Thomas and Lou Jaques of Sherry were in the city on Friday on business and while here favored the Tribune office with a pleasant call.

Mrs. E. E. Winch and Mrs. J. R. Reely of Marshfield and Mrs. C. A. Coon of Madison were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Renne the fore part of the week.

J. W. Brown of Dexterville has accepted a position with Oberbeck Bros. Mfg. Co. to take charge of their lumber yard. He expects to move his family here next week.

Eli Taylor of Nekoosa was in town a short time on Thursday on his way home from the woods where he has been logging the past winter. Eli says this was his 42nd year in the woods.

Geo. H. Smith returned on Wednesday from Milwaukee and left on Thursday for State Line. He was accompanied to the latter place by his daughter Kitty, who will visit there for a short time.

Jacob Bord, Vesper's enterprising contractor and builder transacted business here today (Friday). He reports business good and says he has the contracts to build some fine residences this summer.

Frank Billmyer and Fred Brunkey returned Wednesday from Dandy where they have been in the woods for the Grand Rapids Lumber Co. Frank was running camp and Fred was cooking for him.

C. E. Boles, who has been teaching at Alma Center, returned home last week, the school having been closed at that place on account of a case of smallpox. It is probable that the school will open again in another week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Nash left the city Wednesday evening for a several weeks' stay. Mr. Nash, in company with Col. Vilas and Mr. Fay of Madison, will visit at Hot Springs, Ark., and Mrs. Nash and son, Leo, went to Washington, D. C., where she will visit the family of J. L. Nash. Mrs. Nash will be joined at Washington by Miss Edith, who is attending school at Northampton, Mass., and they will remain together until after the Easter holidays.

Society and Club Notices.

The Women's Club will hold their annual business meeting Monday evening at the residence of Mrs. E. T. Harmon.

The Travel Class will meet next Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. J. D. Witter.

The Catholic Ladies' Aid society will meet on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. J. McCarthy.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. church, east side, will entertain all the societies of the church at the church parlors next Wednesday afternoon.

The Woman's Historical and Literary society will meet next Monday evening with Mrs. James Miller.

The Ladies' Aid society of First Congregational church, west side, will meet with Mrs. C. E. Rossier.

The Foreign Missionary society of the First Congregational church will meet next Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Geo. M. Hill.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Congregational church, east side, will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Miss Jennie Hasbrouck at 2:00 p.m., hence to Mrs. A. E. Tennant.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of M. E. Church will meet on Friday next with Mrs. A. L. Ridgman. Those who have thank offering envelopes are requested to bring them.

The Ethical circle will meet at the Free library next Thursday evening at 7:45. Subject for study "What is Conduct."

Business Men's Meeting.

The Business Men's association met last Friday evening and appointed E. Arpin, F. P. Daly and Charles Briere as a committee to procure funds toward the erection of a pickle factory in this city the coming season. It will take about $3,000 to erect the factory and the committee feel confident of success. Mr. Moody, the company's representative, was present at the meeting and gave an outline of the work and what the establishment of a factory would mean to this section.

Night Was Her Terror.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 55 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Cold, LaGrippe, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Johnson Hill & Co. and John E. Daly.

First Congregational Church.

MAPLE AVENUE, WEST SIDE.
Rev. B. J. H. Shaw, pastor.

Public services for Sunday, March 31, 1901.

10:30 a. m. - Morning service.

12 m. - Sunday School.

7:30 p. m. - Evening service.

Morning subject, "The Kingship of Christ."

Evening subject, "A Religion of Humanity."

To the Electors of Grand Rapids.

I am a candidate for the office of Justice of Peace in said city and respectfully ask your remembrance at the polls of the ensuing election and if elected will faithfully discharge the duties of such office to the best of my ability.

ORRIN GRAY.

Baled Hay.

We have a car load of baled hay selling in any quantity at $10 per ton. The Centralia Hardware Co.

To the Deaf.

A rich lady cured of her deafness and noises in the head by Dr. Nichols' artificial ear drums, gave $10,000 to his institute, so that deaf people unable to procure the ear drums may have them free. Address No. 13,884, The Nicholson Institute, 750, Eighth Avenue, New York.

A. B. Crawford, Dentist. Office in Reland building, Grand Rapids. High grade service at reasonable fees.

For fine dental work, go to Dr. D. A. Teifer, office over Wood County National Bank, Grand Rapids. Will be out of town every Monday and Tuesday.

Dr. J. C. Conniff, Dentist. Office over the Centralia Drug Co.'s store in Daly block, Centralia, Wis. Telephone 182.

Results. Immediate and lasting. Before and after trying other remedies use Rocky Mountain Tea this month. 'Twill keep you well all summer. A great spring blessing.

JOHNSON & HILL CO.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Ed. Griffith has purchased the L. Lambert residence on French-St. Consideration $1500.

Little Ruth Fontaine entertains a party of friends at the home of her parents this afternoon.

Louis Fournier is enlarging his home on High street and making some improvements about the place.

This section was visited by a thunder storm on Saturday and several vivid flashes of lightning, the first of the year.

The law firm of Conway, Williams & Conway will be dissolved on April 1st and the firm name will thereafter be Conway & Conway.

The Easter sale by St. Katherine's and St. Agnes' guilds at the 20th Century place on Thursday was well patronized and about $50 realized.

—WANTED—A lady cook at the Port Edwards Hotel. Wages $3.50 to $4.50 according to ability. References required. E. F. Deyo.

The Arpin Lumber Company broke camp at Arpin on Monday and Tuesday. There is still timber left in that section which the Company will operate on next winter.

The theory and art class have begun their practical work along this line and have been visiting the different grades and have found so far the work to be of great aid to them.

Miss Laura Schmitt has opened her millinery store on the east side. Miss Mayme Devin of Chicago has been engaged as trimmer and will arrive next week to assume charge of her duties.

Stevens Point Journal: Oscar Bandelin, a member of Stevens Point's star baseball team of '97, is coaching the university team this spring. He will play with Minneapolis the coming season.

Dode Fisk's orchestra rendered some of the nicest music at the opera house on Tuesday evening that has been heard in this city for some time. The audience was not very large, however.

—Agents wanted in every community to sell books on good commission. Address James Vaughn, Gen'l Agent, Marshfield, Wis.

Minneapolis Journal: The Wisc on sun idea of the home for Indigent Lawyers is not taking well. A home for indigent clients after the lawyers are through with them would be more to the point.

Walter Smith was at Marshfield Tuesday and while there closed a deal with John Hoffman to again supply him with sand for the coming season. During last season Mr. Smith shipped 116 carloads.

Emery Provost, whose home is at Randolph, was hurt in a railroad wreck at St. Paul on Tuesday, two engines running together. Mr. Provost was hurt about the head and scalped by exploding steam.

At the school meeting on Monday night the only changes made were to elect Dr. F. P. Poinamville to succeed R. A. Havenor in the seventh ward, and Guy Nash to succeed J. W. Natick in the eighth ward.

On Monday occurs the last meeting of the Woman's club for the year, and the members report a most enjoyable and profitable year's work. At Monday's meeting officers will be elected for the ensuing season.

Many children with weak constitutions can attain an unusual degree of bodily and mental vigor by taking Rocky Mountain Tea this month made by the Madison Medicine Co. 35c. JOHNSON & HILL CO.

Henry Muadigan got the thumb and first finger of his right hand caught in the calendar rolls at the Bircon mill on Tuesday, with the result that they were smashed. Dr. Johnson & Hill Co.

The Jackson Milling company is engaged in closing up its business in this city preparatory to giving charge to the Grand Rapids Milling company, who will conduct the business at the same old stand.

Mrs. A. M. Muir entertained a few friends at tea on Wednesday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Renne, Mrs. M. J. Kinney, Mrs. C. A. Coon, Mrs. E. E. Winch, Mrs. J. R. Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cameron.

Miss Rose McCamley was taken to Oshkosh last week to undergo an operation, having been ailing for some time. Dr. Harvie went down on Tuesday to assist and returned on Thursday, reporting that the operation was a success.

My heart and hand another claimed. His palsy had come too late. It's ever thus with people without pluck and vim.

Take Rocky Mountain Tea don't get left again. JOHNSON & HILL CO.

Geo. Cerwenka of this city and Miss Daisy Ostrander of Appleton were married on Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents, the Rev. Mr. Robinson officiating. Bert Beever acted as best man. The young couple will make their home in this city.

The Lawrence University Mandolin club will give a concert at the M. E. church Saturday evening, April 6th. Admission 35 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Richard Beuga, who resides near Rudolph, was arrested by Sheriff McLaughlin on Tuesday charged with having deserted his wife last August. His case will come up before Court Commissioner Brazeau on April 3d.

The following persons were nominated at the caucus in the town of Arpin Tuesday evening: Supervisor, J. A. Arpin, chairman Robert Swenberg; J. F. Passer, clerk J. M. Okenski; treasurer, John Pospisil; assessor, R. E. Swan; constable, Frank Pipe.

Subscribe for the Chicago American delivered to the homes by Lee Rumsey also on sale at Davis' Confectionery and Fruit store.

Results. Immediate and lasting. Before and after trying other remedies use Rocky Mountain Tea this month. 'Twill keep you well all summer. A great spring blessing.

JOHNSON & HILL CO.

Some of our people thought the city authorities had been afflicted with an attack of cleanliness on Tuesday, but later it was discovered that they were not to blame at all. The consternation was caused by several of the street crossings being nicely cleaned off.

The wet weather of the past week has kept our streets in a very disagreeable condition and people who live on the west side have been congratulating themselves to think that Cranberry street is paved and not in the condition it has been in former years.

Aldermen Otto and Anthover were out on the Marshfield road Tuesday to see what could be done toward draining the large accumulation of water that lies near the track and which has bothered every spring. It was decided to put in a culvert and ditch to drain the tract.

Mr. House, representing the Beloit College, attended our school Thursday morning and favored us with a short talk on the college as well as a somewhat longer one on his trip through China. He carried with him many relics from China and gave us a very interesting talk.

—WANTED—A lady cook at the Port Edwards Hotel. Wages $3.50 to $4.50 according to ability. References required. E. F. Deyo.

The machinery in the sawmill with a capacity of 500 inches daily and a capital stock of $5,000,000 and give employment to 200. The instigators claim that the institution will be "trust proof." That is, they will not allow any corporation to buy up the institution and close it up.

—Our line of ready to wear hats for spring and summer of 1901 is now ready and is exceptionally extensive and replete with new and original creations. We cordially invite all the ladies to view it. Watch for opening dates to appear later.

MISS A. SCHMITT & CO.

Charles Payne, who was arrested with the Cox family in the town of Lincoln, had his hearing at Marshfield on Thursday of last week and was charged with rape, but he testified that he was engaged to be married to the oldest girl and the mother of the girl stated that she was seventeen years of age.

Contrary to expectations last fall potatoes are bringing a very low price this spring and about

TRYING TO SUPPRESS TERRIBLE TURK.

The coming match between Nouralah, the terrible Turk, and Paul Pons, the French wrestler, will be a contest of strength vs. science. Pons is by no means one broken his adversary's rib by clashing him in his vice-like embrace. The Turk, however, wholly lacks in science, whereby the Frenchman will have a great advantage.

Humorous Items.

New Cook (who has just been scolded) "I must call your attention to the fact that I am writing my autobiography, and everything you have said to me will soon appear in print."—Flagged Blaster.

Gobbled the Cash—Reporter—"I am told that your trusted cashier has left the bank."—Bank President—"Did he? Thank heavens, we have the building to start with again."—Ohio State Journal.

Magistrate—"Will you take the consequences of pleading guilty?"

Ephraim Chaffee—"Indeed, jedes. I won't take nothing of yo' less than me off to jailin' den two palces."—Ohio State Journal.

Beneath His Dignity.—Joe Jefferson doesn't resort to any such advertising dodge as having his diamonds stolen. "No. He's afraid the papers might refer to it as Jeffersonian simplicity."—Leslie's Weekly.

Bobbie—"Pop, are we among the best people?"

Papa—"We are, Bobbie."

Bobbie (after a thoughtful silence)—"Pop, is the best always the cheapest?"—Leslie's Weekly.

Burcher—"Come, John, be lively now. Break the bone in Mr. Williamson's chops, and pull Mr. Smith's ribs in the basket for him."

John (briskly)—"All right, sir; just as soon as I've carved off Mr. Murphy's leg."—Tit-Bits.

Mr. Courtenay (flatteringly)—"I had the blues awfully when I came here night; Miss Fisher, but they are all gone now. You have as good as medicine."

Miss Fisher's Little Brother—"Yes, father says she will be a drug in the market if she doesn't marry you."—Tit-Bits.

Ethel—"Mamma told me I could stay in the parlor last night while Mr. Hazard was calling on sister Bess."

Ethel—"Did she?"

Ethel—"Yes, and it was great fun. We played blind man's buff, and they let me be the blind man nearly all the time."—Philadelphia Press.

Tommy had been boasting about his new brother.

"How old is he, Tom?" asked the policeman.

"Two weeks," said Tom.

"He's very small, isn't he?"

"Yes," said Tom, "he's pretty small—that is all except his voice."—Tit-Bits.

"Guzzam has been going without his breakfast for a month to reduce his flesh," said Twynn.

"With what effect?" asked Trippert.

"He is losing two pounds a week, and is very much tickled over it."

"Well, if he keeps on at that rate he'll be tickled to death."—Detroit Free Press.

Church—"Have you a cozy corner in your house?"

Gochan—"Oh, yes; my wife has arranged two of them."

"You must enjoy them after a hard day's work."

"Enjoy nothing! The cat has one, and my wife's dog occupies the other."—Yankee Statesman.

The Youth's Companion reports a fine illustration of the text, "Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings, etc." "Did your playmate enjoy her visit?" said mamma to her small daughter, who had just ridden aside to her little friend. "Yes, yes, mamma. I think she did," replied the child. "I called her my dear, very often, in that dressy tone you use when you have company."

Jack's father and mother were having a very heated discussion at the table one day. They entirely forgot him, and, as the argument waxed fiercer, he looked from one to the other with real concern on his cherub face. Presently, during a lull, he cleared the air by asking pointedly.

"Papa, did you marry mamma, or did mamma marry you?"—Brooklyn Life.

"I never thought he would propose to her."

"Then how did she set him?"

"Well, he was slightly incensed and she misconstrued his remarks. He asked her to marry him at the punch bowl, and she thought he asked her to marry him. At any rate she accepted him, and he's too zealous to dispute her version of the affair."—San Francisco Town Talk.

Hank (the blacksmith)—"Haw do de Rue?"

Rube—"How do do, Hank? Can't complain. Hauw's everything with you?" "How's yer family?"

Hank—"Fus! rate!" Anything I ken dey fer few, Rube?"

Rube—"Yes, guess yer kin. Saay, Hank?"

Hank—"Well?"

Rube—"I kem around tew see of new wouldn't loan mother yer ladder. Our house is on fire."—Judge.

COMING CANADIAN CENSUS.

Effort to Show as Large a Population as Possible for the Dominion.

A great deal of interest is felt in Canada in the result of the census which is to be taken this year; and it is with the object of showing as large a figure as possible that both the Dominion and the provincial governments have been offering all kinds of inducements to Canadian families who have crossed the border to return to swell the population returns.

It is calculated that the population is now about 6,000,000, but there is nothing in the ratio of increase shown at the three previous censuses to justify the estimate, and in the province of Ontario the birth rate has fallen so low as to attract the attention both of the moralist and the statistician, while among the prolific French-Canadians a decided tendency to return to the soil is shown.

A sketch of the progress of Canada in 1861 shows a certain interest in increase of the relatively slow rate of increase as compared with the United States. The first official census of Canada was made in 1861, a little more than half a century after Champlain had founded Quebec. At that time it was taken New France, as Canada was then called, counted 538 families, comprising 3,255 persons. Of these Montreal had 525, the largest aggregation in one locality at that time in the country. Quebec came next with 547, and Three Rivers with 435.

There was a comparatively concentrated population there being at Ste. Anne 532, at Beauport 185, and on the island of Orleans 452 persons. The royal French troops, numbering about 1,200 souls, divided into twenty-four companies, were not included. Of the total of 5,215 persons, 747 were engaged in the different professions and commerce, and of these 401 were merely servants or subordinates.

The clergy comprised one bishop with eighteen priests and other ecclesiastics, and there were thirty-one Jesuit priests and brothers, all engaged in teaching and in missions to the Indians. There were also eighteen nuns of the Ursuline order, twenty-three of the Hotel Dieu and four of the Hotel Saint-Joseph.

There were 1,019 married persons and 42 widowers and widows, and 1,252 children under 15 years of age. The males in the population exceeded the females by 552.

During the Eighteenth century there were twelve counts of the population, and there were a number of irregular counts during the first half of the last century, the nineteenth. It was not until 1860-61 that a complete census of the whole country was taken simultaneously.

The census of 1871 gave a total of 3,625,294; that of 1881, 4,324,810; and the last, that of 1891, a total of 4,822,239. Since then immigration has been artificially stimulated, and repatriation, especially of French Canadians, has been encouraged in every possible way.

The first census of the United States in 1790, gave a population of 3,929,214 souls. At the same date the number of inhabitants of the territory now comprised in the Dominion of Canada, exclusive of the Indians, was 228,000.

Origin of the Yosemite.

It is perfectly obvious to those familiar with glacial phenomena that Yosemite is quite an ordinary and necessary product of glacial erosion, under the conditions prevailing in that locality. The main glacier came down Tenaya canyon, cutting it to a steep but fairly uniform grade. Yosemite valley is but a continuation of that gorge. The end of the glacier at the time that it was cutting Yosemite extended far beyond Fort Monroe. It remained there for a long time and therefore plowed out the bottom of the valley to a considerable depth.

Branch glaciers joined the Tenaya glacier when it filled Yosemite, coming down the valleys of Yosemite, Little Yosemite, Hillestone and Bridal Veil, other creeks, and forming hanging valleys at the junction points. The formation of the vertical cliffs of the valley may have been due to undermining, and may have been aided by the cleavage of the rocks. On the recession of the glacier doubtless the bottom of the valley was capped by a lake, which has since been gradually filled by detritus and drained by the erosion of Merced river cutting through the rock wall at the foot of the valley.—National Geographic Magazine.

Benefits of Tree Planting.

A tree-planting association in New Jersey, after an experience of several years, reports that "the results in improved appearance, general attractiveness and comfort during the summer season are most favorable and out of all proportion to the comparatively small cost."

Recent arrivals report that the next big British Columbian placer find will be on the Findlay river.

A Political Walnut.

An amusing episode occurred at a political meeting at Lavendon during the general election. After hearing the speeches of the candidate and his supporters, an aged Conservative from Wolverton mounted the platform and caused some mystery by dramatically holding aloft a walnut, when he proceeded to say:

"This is a political walnut. The rough shell represents the Radicals; the next, the chisel bitter salt, is the Liberals, and the kernel represents the good Conservative."

A man in the audience cried out:

"Now crack it."

The Wolverton Tory did so, when, lo and behold! the kernel was rotten. The admixture of laughter and chagrin that followed may be imagined.—Spare Moments.

NEARLY GONE.

Mrs. Julia A. Mallahan, of Owosso, Mich., Has a Very Narrow Escape—The Doctor Had Little Hope.

Owosso, Mich., March 23.—(Special)—Elite Rebekah Lodge, No. 2, I. O. O. F. of this town, came very nearly losing their esteemed and capable Secretary, Mrs. Julia A. Mallahan.

Mrs. Mallahan caught a severe cold last winter, and like many others, failed to recognize the dangerous possibilities until it had settled in her kidneys, and left her with very severe bearing-down pains and almost constant backache. It almost carried her off. Mrs. Mallahan tells the story this way:

"I caught a cold last winter, which I neglected until it settled in my kidneys, causing severe bearing-down pains and almost constant backache. My health had previously been so good that I paid little attention to these symptoms, until the disease had gone so far that my doctor entertained but a slight hope of my recovery."

Fortunately one of our Lodge Members mentioned Dodd's Kidney Pills. Her description of the cures they had effected sounded like a fairy tale, but I sent for a box, deciding to give them a trial. I soon found that she had but half told the story of what they could do. I bless the day I first tried them, and have nothing but the highest praise for them."

Many very valuable lives have been saved by the timely use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and not a few of these have been in Owosso and other neighboring Michigan towns. There seems to be no case of kidney trouble or backache that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure.

They are 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50. Buy them from your local druggist if you can. If he cannot supply you, send to the Dodds Medicine Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Missouri Not Patriotic.

The Missouri statehouse does not display a national flag and does not own one. A resolution authorizing the purchase of one has been referred to the House committee on federal relations. The belief in Jefferson City is that the committee will pigeonhole it.

Two Big Pains

seem to be the heritage of the human family everywhere, viz:

Rheumatism

and

Neuralgia

but there is one sure and prompt cure for both, viz:

St. Jacobs Oil

seem to be the heritage of the human family everywhere, viz:

Rheumatism

and

Neuralgia

but there is one sure and prompt cure for both, viz:

Bowels Don't Move?

Caused by over-work! Over-drinking!

No part of the human body receives more ill treatment than the bowels. Load after load is imposed until the intestines become clogged, refuse to act, worn out. Then you must assist nature. Do it, and see how easily you will be cured by CASCARETS Candy Cathartic. Not a mass of violent mercurial and mineral poison, but a pure vegetable compound that acts directly upon the diseased

and worn out intestinal canal, making it strong, and gently stimulating the liver and kidneys; a candy tablet, pleasant to eat, easy and delightful in action. Don't accept a substitute for CASCARETS.

Caused by over-work! Over-drinking!

No part of the human body receives more ill treatment than the bowels. Load after load is imposed until the intestines become clogged, refuse to act, worn out. Then you must assist nature. Do it, and see how easily you will be cured by CASCARETS Candy Cathartic. Not a mass of violent mercurial and mineral poison, but a pure vegetable compound that acts directly upon the diseased

and worn out intestinal canal, making it strong, and gently stimulating the liver and kidneys; a candy tablet, pleasant to eat, easy and delightful in action. Don't accept a substitute for CASCARETS.

Caused by over-work! Over-drinking!

No part of the human body receives more ill treatment than the bowels. Load after load is imposed until the intestines become clogged, refuse to act, worn out. Then you must assist nature. Do it, and see how easily you will be cured by CASCARETS Candy Cathartic. Not a mass of violent mercurial and mineral poison, but a pure vegetable compound that acts directly upon the diseased

and worn out intestinal canal, making it strong, and gently stimulating the liver and kidneys; a candy tablet, pleasant to eat, easy and delightful in action. Don't accept a substitute for CASCARETS.

Caused by over-work! Over-drinking!

No part of the human body receives more ill treatment than the bowels. Load after load is imposed until the intestines become clogged, refuse to act, worn out. Then you must assist nature. Do it, and see how easily you will be cured by CASCARETS Candy Cathartic. Not a mass of violent mercurial and mineral poison, but a pure vegetable compound that acts directly upon the diseased

and worn out intestinal canal, making it strong, and gently stimulating the liver and kidneys; a candy tablet, pleasant to eat, easy and delightful in action. Don't accept a substitute for CASCARETS.

Caused by over-work! Over-drinking!

No part of the human body receives more ill treatment than the bowels. Load after load is imposed until the intestines become clogged, refuse to act, worn out. Then you must assist nature. Do it, and see how easily you will be cured by CASCARETS Candy Cathartic. Not a mass of violent mercurial and mineral poison, but a pure vegetable compound that acts directly upon the diseased

and worn out intestinal canal, making it strong, and gently stimulating the liver and kidneys; a candy tablet, pleasant to eat, easy and delightful in action. Don't accept a substitute for CASCARETS.

Caused by over-work! Over-drinking!

No part of the human body receives more ill treatment than the bowels. Load after load is imposed until the intestines become clogged, refuse to act, worn out. Then you must assist nature. Do it, and see how easily you will be cured by CASCARETS Candy Cathartic. Not a mass of violent mercurial and mineral poison, but a pure vegetable compound that acts directly upon the diseased

and worn out intestinal canal, making it strong, and gently stimulating the liver and kidneys; a candy tablet, pleasant to eat, easy and delightful in action. Don't accept a substitute for CASCARETS.

Caused by over-work! Over-drinking!

No part of the human body receives more ill treatment than the bowels. Load after load is imposed until the intestines become clogged, refuse to act, worn out. Then you must assist nature. Do it, and see how easily you will be cured by CASCARETS Candy Cathartic. Not a

</

PITTSVILLE ITEMS.

Clayton Drummond who attempted to organize a military company here last fall is desirous of renewing his efforts in that direction this spring. He is thoroughly posted on drill and marching manual of the U. S. army and the instruction would be very beneficial to our young men and also furnish them abundant entertainment of a social nature.

The farmers around Veedum held a meeting at Paulson's store Saturday night to talk over the matter of a cheese factory. There were about twenty farmers present and they secured over 100 cows. The following officers were elected: F. Gorham, president, A. B. Ellis, secretary, Jessie Carry, Hans Paulson and A. B. Ellis committee.

Agent Ward received checks the first of the week for settlement of damages of those injured in the train wreck near here recently, as follows: Frank Smith, $175; L. Shumway, $25; Mrs. Shumway, $25; A. L. Covey, $25. Each of above were paid the sum of $25 at a time of accident as part payment of their claims, in addition to a settlement of doctors' bills. Mrs. Shumway has not accepted her check yet as she believes an error has been made in allowing her claim.

Thirteen families consisting of thirty-one people arrived at Progress Sunday from Missouri. They have purchased farms near that place and commenced settling down at once.

C. E. Fero has been granted an increase of pension from $6 to $8 per month.

IRON.

Henry Mundinger, a machine tender in the mill, while helping to put the paper through the calenders Monday night got two fingers of his left hand smashed pretty bad. Dr. Pomaiville dressed the wounded members and they are now getting along nicely. Mr. Mundinger resigned his position and went to his home at Port Edwards.

The water has been rising steadily during the last week and an ice jam has formed below the dam. Very high water is expected this spring and a crew of men are at work cutting channels in the ice above the dam to break it up.

A party of young men from Grand Rapids was in this village Wednesday and while in the mill their team got away and the boys had the pleasure of getting back the best way they could.

The boys at the boarding house have bought a pair of boxing gloves with which they make things lively around here.

While fooling around one of his father's horses Sunday, Leland Swartout was severely bitten in the face.

Sheridan Jessimer moved to town Monday and drives to work with his fast trotter.

Fred and William DeMars are visiting with their parents this week.

PORT EDWARDS.

Misses Retta Cleveland and Fanny Burrows and Messrs. C. A. Jasperson and C. S. Whittlesey were among the Port Edwards people who attended the dance at Nekoosa Wednesday.

Henry Forbes, our esteemed town clerk, has returned from Madison to stay until after election. He paid our village an official visit Tuesday.

The town board of audit met on Tuesday and the various officers were in town winding up affairs preparatory to the election on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Garrison attended the hop at Grand Rapids Tuesday evening and Wednesday evening the one at Nekoosa.

Miss Neilie Young has been visiting at Nekoosa this week and incidentally took in the dance Wednesday evening.

H. L. Vachreau was a Grand Rapids visitor between trains Saturday.

CRANMOOR.

Daniel Rezin, wife and daughter, Charles Kruger, Roy Lester, Misses Anna Granger and Myra Kruger and the Whittlesey family were in attendance at the concert given by Fisk's orchestra at Nekoosa Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Lena Suis left on the Sunday morning train to visit with her sisters, Mrs. Carl Larson of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Edward Christianson of Ogdensburg, returning to Cranmoor Monday night.

Lafe Brooks, the genial liveryman of west Grand Rapids with his elder children and a Mr. Preston of Strong's Prairie drove out to call on their friends, the A. E. Bennett family, last Sunday.

George Scott came down Saturday evening and spent Sunday with the home folks, returning to Port Edwards Monday morning.

Miss Griffith and pupils of the North school are enjoying a spring vacation. School closed the 26th inst. and will reopen until April 8.

Bernice Lester accompanied Miss Griffith to Grand Rapids Wednesday and will spend several days visiting.

Treasurer S. N. Whittlesey spent last Tuesday at Port Edwards with the board of audit.

A. E. Bennett was a county seat visitor Wednesday.

Working 24 Hours a Day.

There's no rest for those tireless little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always busy, curing Torpid Liver, Jaundice, Biliousness, Fever and Ague. They banish Sick Headache, drive out Malaria. Never gripe or weaken. Small, taste nice, work wonders. Try them, 25¢ at Johnson Hill & Co. and John E. Daly.

—Dr. A. L. Ridgman, Centralia. Office over Centralia Drug Store. Telephone No. 92. Telephone at residence, No. 23.

Seed Oats.

—We have 1000 bushels of select seed oats selling at 35 cents, clover seed both medium and mammoth at 56 per bushel, choice timothy at $2.50. Farmers come quick. The Centralia Hardware Co.

NEKOOSA.

The following ticket was placed in nomination by the citizens party on Monday evening: President, A. E. Lapham; trustees Frank Nash, George Footit, A. Zurhuh, H. E. Herrick, Thomas Snell and C. Marceau; clerk, H. E. Fitch; treasurer, A. D. Billings; supervisor, Wm. Hooper; assessor, Richard Scheibe; constable, Wm. Knight; justice of the peace, H. A. Morgan. Thos. Snell and C. Marceau have since withdrawn and the vacancies filled by S. Brazeau and P. Jagozinski.

Men are engaged in blasting the ice above the dam. Dynamite is used in the work and as the ice is quite thick heavy charges are necessary.

The concert and ball given on Wednesday evening by the Duke Fish orchestra was well attended and there was a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gahl are happy over the arrival of a baby boy, which occurred on Tuesday.

A Card.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50 cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25 cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

John E. Daly,
Johnson & Hill Co.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed bids will be received up to April 10, 1901, at noon for the erection and completion of a brick veneer Catholic church, to be erected at Sigel, Wood Co., Wis. First, the complete building; second, different branches of the work; third, heating. Heating men are to make out specifications, specifying what they will furnish, all according to plans and specifications. The plans and specifications can be had at Rev. James Garra's residence, Junction City, Portage Co., Wis.

For Sale Cheap.

A two story frame house of four rooms and four lots 51x135, with well, woodshed, nice lawn, shade trees, etc., on Milwaukee street, can be bought for $600, on account of owner leaving town. This is worth investigating. Call at the Tribune office for further information.

—Dr. Chas. Pomaiville, Dentist, Office over J. A. Cohen's store, Grand Rapids, Wis. Telephone 216.

RUDOLPH.

We are about to lose some of our old time residents. A party of forty will leave here April 9th for Alberta, Canada. John A. Flanagan, the Canadian government agent here, has been doing some hustling work in securing settlers and the result is the large colony mentioned. While we feel sorry to lose so many old neighbors we still wish them prosperity in their new homes. The Canadian government offers such good inducements and the reports from those already sent out by Agent Flanagan are so encouraging that it is no wonder that so many are leaving here.

William Pfund has started for Menasha, Wis., where he expects to make his future home, having sold his farm to Aug. Jacoby. William has been a prosperous farmer but makes the change on account of the illness of his wife, hoping that she may be restored to health thereby.

The M. W. A. will give a grand dance April 9. The members extend a cordial invitation to everybody to attend their dance. Supper will be served by T. LaVaque.

J. O. Hassell has been lucky enough, after driving for about a month, to strike water on his farm. The flow is large enough to supply his neighbors.

Saline Gokey is home again after visiting with relatives and friends at Marshfield, Stratford and Loyal, Wis.

Carl Omaholt and George Cooper came back from the woods on Sunday night.

Alfred Akey of Biron visited relatives and friends here last Sunday.

Sheriff McLaughlin was in our burg Monday on business.

THE CRITERION.

$1.00 a Year. 10 Cents a Copy.

The best illustrated monthly magazine of the kind published. Its pages are filled by a brilliant array of writers and artists. Its authoritative and independent reviews of books, plays, music and art, its clever stories, strong special articles, humor and verse, with fine illustrations, make it a necessity in every intelligent home. The very low subscription price—$1.00 per year—puts it within the reach of all. Reliable agents wanted in every town. Extraordinary inducements. Write for particulars. A trial subscription will prove it.

Write today for sample copy.

CRITERION PUBLICATION CO.

Subscription Department,
41 East 21st St., N. Y. City.

Have You Any Old Gold?

Hirzy, the jeweler, will buy your old gold if you have any for sale and give you the highest price for it. He will also make over old gold into jewelry, rings, etc., for 35 cents a pennyweight.

A. P. HIRZY

GRAND RAPIDS, WIS.

ELECTION NOTICE.

Office of City Clerk, March 20, 1901.

Notice is hereby given that a municipal election is to be held in the several wards of the city of Grand Rapids, Wood County, Wisconsin, on the 2nd day of April, A. D. 1901, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to this office, are given opposite the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column:

INFORMATION TO VOTERS.

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters. A voter upon entering a polling place and giving his name and address, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for. The voter if he wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party, should make a cross mark X under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the square made for that purpose. A ballot so marked, and having no other mark, will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a cross mark be placed in the square under the name or at any place in the space occupied by the name or names of candidates in another column, and will be counted for all names written in lieu of one erased. If the voter wishes to vote for some of the candidates of different political parties, he should make a cross mark under the name of each candidate he desires to vote for, or at any place within the space in which the name is printed. If he wishes to vote for a person for a certain office whose name is not on the ballot, he must write the name in the blank space under the printed name of the candidate for the office. The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot is spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all to any one voter. Five minutes time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter. After it is marked, it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed endorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place. A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking the same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability. The party designations and candidates for the different offices are as follows:

Office.	Citizens' Ticket.	Individual Nominations.
Mayor.....	William E. Wheelan.....	.....
Treasurer.....	Milton W. Mosher.....	.....
Assessor.....	Bernard G. Chandos.....	Newton Hubbard Robinson
Justice of the Peace.....	William H. Getts.....	Orrin Gray.....
First Ward.
Alderman.....	David L. Lutz, Jr. ....	.....
Supervisor.....	Ermuad P. Arpin.....	.....
Second Ward.
Alderman.....	Gustave Schuman.....	.....
Supervisor.....	Theodore W. Brazeau.....	.....
Third Ward.
Alderman.....	William E. Gross.....	.....
Supervisor.....	William Scott.....	.....
Fourth Ward.
Alderman.....	Charles Bunde.....	Charles Lubeck.....
Supervisor.....	Andrew A. Carter.....	Geo. T. Rowland.....
Fifth Ward.
Alderman.....	John Kolanda.....	Fred Bossert.....
Supervisor.....	Ira Bassett.....	.....
Sixth Ward.
Alderman.....	Fred H. Jackson.....	.....
Supervisor.....	J. Wilbur Cochran.....	.....
Seventh Ward.
Alderman.....	Michael McCarthy.....	.....
Supervisor.....	John Bell, Sr. ....	.....
Eighth Ward.
Alderman.....	George M. Hill.....	.....
Supervisor.....	William J. Conway.....	.....

MILTON W. MOSHER, City Clerk.

You will take notice that the above list of candidates includes candidates for the city offices and also the candidates for each of the ward offices and that the ticket to be voted in any one ward will be composed of the above list of candidates for city offices together with a list of the candidates for ward offices for that particular ward, as for example, the ticket for the fourth ward will be the above list of candidates for city offices together with the above list of candidates for ward offices for the fourth ward only.

You will further take notice that the polls will be open at 6 o'clock a. m. and close at 5 o'clock p. m. and will be held in the following places in the several wards, to-wit:

First ward, Ed Mahoney's residence; Second ward, Library building; Third ward, Grand Army Hall (G. A. R.); Fourth ward, John Plenke's residence; Fifth ward, Waterworks Power House; Sixth ward, Brainard Worthington's shop; Seventh ward, City Hall; Eighth ward, Martin Nisson's residence.

M. W. MOSHER,
City Clerk.

JUDICIAL ELECTION NOTICE

OFFICE OF COUNTY CLERK, March 20th, 1901.

To the Electors of Wood County.

Notice is hereby given that a judicial election is to be held in the several Towns, Wards and election precincts in the County of Wood on the 2nd day of April 1901, at which the officers named below are to be chosen.

The name of the candidate for each office to be voted for whose nominations have been certified to this office are given opposite the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation each in its proper column.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS.

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters. A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for. The voter if he wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party, should make a cross mark X under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the square made for that purpose. A ballot so marked, and having no other mark, will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a cross mark be placed in the square under the name or any place in the space occupied by the name or names of candidates in another column, and will be counted for all names written in lieu of one erased. If the voter wishes to vote for some of the candidates of different political parties, he should make a cross mark under the name of each candidate he desires to vote for, or at any place within the space in which the name is printed. If he wishes to vote for a person for a certain office whose name is not on the ballot, he must write the name in the blank space under the printed name of the candidate for the office. The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot is spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter. After it is marked, it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that